HOUSE OK'S HEALTHY TAX CUT

Measure Now Faces Tough Fight In Senate

. . . ACTION DOUBLE WIN FOR JFK

Washington (AP) — The House passed Wednesday the biggest tax cut bill in history—President Kennedy's proposal for an $11 billion slash with a share for practically every U.S. taxpayer.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it faces a tough and uncertain future.

It holds out the prospect of $100 to $200 more take home pay every year for the majority of tax paying families.

Big Margin

The vote on passage was 271 to 155.

A total of 223 Democrats and 48 Republicans voted for the bill, and 126 Republicans and 29 Democrats against it.

The administration wants to put the cut into effect in time for the increased pay to begin showing next January.

The House action was a double triumph for President Kennedy who had called the measure the keystone of his economic program and the most important piece of domestic money legislation to come before Congress in 15 years.

Before passing the bill, the House defeated, 226 to 199 a Republican motion that would have made the tax cut conditional to Kennedy's submission of reduced spending budget for this year and next year.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee announced that his group will start closed-door briefings on the bill Oct. 3 with congressional staff experts.

Byrd said he expects these to run a week or more, indicating that the public hearings will not begin until the week of Oct. 14. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon is to be the first witness but Byrd said the time for his appearance is not definite yet.

More Doubtful

This delay of at least two weeks in the opening of the public hearings made it even more doubtful the bill could become law this year.

Byrd has said the public hearings may run six weeks although the schedule has not yet been made out.

The Virginian declined to comment on passage of the House bill other than to say that he remains opposed to any tax reduction without offsetting spending cuts.

Immediate

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., a finance member, announced he would ask for immediate and speedy Senate hearings.

He said the hearings should be limited to 30 days and declared "it will be possible in this way for the Senate to act finally on tax measures this year."

"I believe we owe it to the 4.3 million jobless citizens who cannot pay taxes today and who owe no taxes because they are not working to give them this chance at jobs," the Indianan said.

Aid 3 Million

"It is my judgment that three million of these jobless persons could be put to work if the tax measure were passed."

The Kennedy timetable calls for two-thirds of the tax reduction for individuals to begin with the new year, and the rest in 1965. Ultimately the cut for average taxpaying families is estimated in the $100 to $200 a year range. Time is a big problem, even if Congress remains in session through the fall—as is expected.

The Repubicans proposed to make the entire tax cut depend on the President submitting spending estimates of not more than $97 billion for the fiscal year that started last July 1 and $98 billion for the following year. This would represent cutbacks of about $1 billion and $2 billion. He could either submit such statements at the regular time in January or else settle any doubts about the tax cut by publishing them earlier in the Federal Register.

If Exceeded

If the spending limits were subsequently exceeded, the tax cut would not be cancelled.

This led some opponents of the Republican amendment sponsored by Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin to describe it as phony, but Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, a leader among fiscally conservative southern Democrats, pleaded Wednesday for its approval.

On the other side of the argument, Rep. Hal Boggs, of Louisiana, the House Democratic whip, said the amendment was "based on a theory that the United States has a static society and that he (the President) can say—tomorrow—that he will level off our spending at a certain level."

Across-the-Board

The heart of the tax reduction bill is an across-the-board slash in rates. Instead of ranging, for individuals, from 20% to 91%, the rates would go from 14% to 70%. Corporate income tax rates would be cut from 52% to 48% and rearranged to give a further reduction to the first $25,000 of corporate income. These changes would take place in two stages—Jan. 1, 1964 and a year later.

The individual income tax return due next April would, however, reflect the old rates, since they would be on 1963 income.

The taxation of capital gains—the increase in value of stock, real estate and similar property—also would be reduced. The gain on such assets held two years or more would have to be reported only at 40% of value, instead of 50, and would carry a maximum tax of 21% instead of 25.

—COUNTRY PLUNGED INTO CHAOS—

Armed Forces, Police Oust Dominican Ruler

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — The armed forces and police Wednesday overthrew Juan D. Bosch, the Dominican Republic's first legally elected president in a generation. Leaders of the plot charged that Bosch's eight-month rule — sequel to the Trujillo dictatorship — had plunged the country into chaos.

The United States quickly suspended relations with the nation of 3 million that shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti.

The U.S. aid program also was suspended, and a State Department spokesman in Washington said "any overthrow of a democratically elected government is a loss to the policies of the countries of this hemisphere, including our own."

Intellectual

Bosch, silver-haired, blue-eyed intellectual with a Lincolnesque expression, was variously reported under arrest in the presidential palace and at the San Isidro military air base about nine miles from the capital. There were rumors abroad that he was being flown into exile.

Many left wingers were arrested. Communists and leftist organizations supporting Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro were outlawed. White-helmeted riot police tore down their signs and slogans.

At least two political leaders were reported to have taken political asylum in Latin American embassies.

Respectable

The military leaders summoned heads of opposition parties to pick a "respectable man" to succeed Bosch. Members of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary Party and their allies were not invited to the session aimed at setting up a provisional government.

In the meantime, the military abolished the constitution and dissolved the legislature. Public gatherings throughout the country were banned. Schools, all stores and factories were closed.

Santo Domingo remained calm. The only sign of the military takeover was the posting of a machinegun in the square in front of the the presidential palace.

At Sword Points

The overthrow comes at a time when the Dominican Republic had been at sword points with neighboring Haiti for months. Only last Monday the two countries accused each other of shooting across their common border. The flareup apparently was triggered by Haitian rebels fleeing into Dominican territory after an abortive attempt to topple Haitian President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

The military communique announcing Wednesday's takeover was signed by Victor Elby Vinas Roman, minister of the armed forces; the air force, navy and police chiefs, and some prominent civilians.

Among the signers were Gens. Antonio Imbert Barrera and Luis Amiamo Tio, former members of a council of state involved in a plot against dictator Rafael Trujillo that led to his assassination in 1961.

In February

Bosch became president last February, taking over from an interim regime that had run the country after the overthrow of the Trujillo dynasty.

For weeks there had been rumors that a coup was in the making. A little over a week ago, Bosch, on a state visit to Mexico, referred to the possibility that he might be overthrown.

One of the chief causes of anti-Bosch feeling was a law he sponsored confiscating the properties of all who prospered under Trujillo. Since the dictator was in power for 31 years, this meant practically any Dominican with money in the bank.

Incompetence

Administrative incompetence aroused the business and professional classes and also some sections of labor. An atmosphere prevailed that scared away investment capital and worried American companies that have $100 million invested in the republic.

THANKS, CHIEF . . . Gov. Morrison thanks Spotted Back for help in promoting Nebraska.

Feathers Intact, Chief Returns To Nebraska

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Omaha—He looked tired, but . . .

Chief Spotted Back had a few remarks for the press.

"Despite anything you might have read or printed, I am returning with all 32 of my feathers," he began.

Fellow members of the European "Sell Nebraska" tour chuckled Wednesday night as the colorful Indian from the Macy reservation continued:

"You know, Europeans no longer fear Indians. Why, they thought I was downright tame. Guess they've seen too many movies."

Would Like 2nd Trip

Before heading back to the reservation, Spotted Back said he would like to go abroad again and "see that De Gaulle" this time.

So would Maxine Morrison, the governor's wife, who headed the Nebraska delegation.

Before the bags were unloaded, her husband expressed hope that another European trip might take place next year.

"This time we should stress trade rather than tourism," the governor declared. "Such a trip might be financed through foundations and private business rather than state funds."

Both the governor and his wife took issue with criticism that members of the trip were being aided by state money.

Just Steen

"Only State Game Commission Director Mel Steen's way was paid by the state and the Legislature approved this," Morrison declared.

The first lady, along with her weary companions, said the trip should yield dollars for Nebraska in years to come.

She said the venture helped to promote not only tourism, but also trade and the exchange of ideas.

Best Publicity

"Many persons in Europe told us that our group was the only one to receive such good publicity. Groups from other states have been making trips, too."

Mrs. Morrison reported only one trace of anti-American feeling and that came in France.

There, a city hall reception for the Nebraskans was cancelled because of a wave of "anti-Kennedy articles in one of the papers," she noted.

Spotted Back had a final comment: "Those people know there's a Nebraska now."

Then he was off to the reservation.

Updating Of LAFB Missiles Scheduled

A modernization program to incorporate "latest missle technology" into Atlas missile facilities at Lincoln Air Force Base will begin in "late 1963" according to an announcement by General Dynamics-Astranautics of San Diego, Calif.

A civilian technician team averaging 300 to 400 persons over a one-year period will be brought to LAFB to do the work, the firm's vice president, W. L. Van Horn, said.

At peak periods the team will be increased to more than 500 persons.

A local spokesman for the firm said he was not permitted to release any information in addition to the formal announcement. Indications are however, that the technicians will begin arriving here soon.

The General Dynamics announcement compared the project to modernization programs to add improvements to operational aircraft, in which better methods developed from tests and research are added to the operational system.

The firm has already participated in similar programs for Series D and E Atlas horizontal launch sites.

The launch sites served from LAFB are Atlas-F underground installations called silos. In additions to LAFB the modernization program is to be conducted at sites as Schilling AFB, Salina, Kan.; Altus AFB, Okla.; Dyess AFB, Abilene, Tex.; Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M., and Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y.

The Atlas missiles are built in San Diego by General Dynamics-Astronautics for the Ballistic Systems Division of the Air Force Systems Command.

Warnings Ordered In Caribbean

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Gale warnings were ordered Wednesday night for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands as Hurricane Edith picked up forward speed and aimed 100-mile-per-hour winds at the area.

A hurricane watch was continued for Puerto Rico and was extended to include all of Hispaniola.

At 11 p.m. Hurricane Edith, fifth of the season, had winds up to 100 miles per hour over a small area and was centered near latitude 15.2 north and longitude 65.0 west or about 240 miles south southeast of San Juan.

It was moving toward the west northwest at about 16 miles per hour and was expected to continue on the same course and at the same speed for the next 12 hours.

The center of the storm was expected to pass about 150 miles south of Ponce, Puerto Rico, by early forenoon Thursday.

Hurricane force winds (74 miles per hour) extend outward about 60 miles to the northeast and 75 miles to the south and west, the Weather Bureau said.

"This is a dangerous hurricane and ships in its path should exercise extreme caution," the Weather Bureau added. "Small craft in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Hispaniola should remain in port.

"Small craft should also remain in port in the windward and leeward islands until winds and seas subside."

MISSING TYKE SHIFTS GEARS BEHIND TAVERN

Monroe, Mich. (AP) — Police threw up roadblocks and started a search after Mrs. Fred Voss reported that her 18-month-old son and her car had disappeared from a grocery store parking lot.

The Petersburgh, Mich., woman explained that she left her son, David, in the car with the motor running while she went into the store Tuesday.

The car emerged from behind a tavern across the street half an hour later, with David in it.

Sheriff's deputies said the little boy apparently had put the car's automatic transmission into reverse, and then managed to put it in forward gear behind the tavern.

TRIO VOTES NO

Washington (AP) — Nebraska Congressmen Beermann, Cunningham and Martin voted with the minority Wednesday as the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to cut taxes $11 billion starting next January. The House vote was 271 for and 155 against.

The Nebraska delegation also voted with the minority as the House defeated 226 to 199 a Republican amendment to make an $11 billion tax cut on proposed reductions in federal spending.

Attorney General Pushes For New Laws To Fight Crime

. . . VALACHI WILL TESTIFY FRIDAY IN SENATE PROBE OF UNDERWORLD SYNDICATE

Washington (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Congress Wednesday to arm him with laws legalizing wiretapping and encouraging intimidated witnesses to talk. He said he wants the new laws for use in crushing a nationwide underworld government that deals in murder, terror and crime for profit.

AP

ROBERT KENNEDY . . . testifies at probe.

Kennedy, lead-off witness in a Senate investigation into the workings of the crime syndicate variously known as La Cosa Nostra, Blackhand Society or Mafia, also told of the possibilities for a major power struggle among criminals in New York.

He drew prompt support for his proposals from Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy of New York, Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee conducting the probe, and other committee members.

New Law

McClellan also suggested a new law making it a crime to be a member of secret crime societies and Murphy appealed for formation of a nationwide new federal intelligence system as an added weapon in fighting crime.

The long-awaited hearings opened in the Senate caucus room before a less than capacity crowd of about 200 with Capitol policemen standing in the aisles and seven television and newsreel cameras sweeping the room for later telecasts.

The police, although unneeded Wednesday, apparently foreshadowed security precautions being taken to protect underworld figure Joseph Valachi, 60, when he testifies at a still undisclosed time on the inner workings of Cosa Nosrta.

Valachi, a convicted dope peddler and murderer who has been spilling what he knows for more than a year to the FBI, is under a reported Cosa Nostra death sentence with $100,000 reward awaiting the killer.

It was announced that Valachi will testify Friday. He will be questioned in closed session by the Senate investigators prior to the public appearance.

McClellan, in an opening statments, said the objective of the hearings is "to give law enforcement officials whatever additional tools they may need" to destroy crime and combat the illicit international dope traffic.

He said the drug traffic would be traced from the opium fields of the Orient to cladestine laboratories in Europe and from there to American addicts.

Tell How

Valachi, he said, would tell how La Cosa Nostra rules its empire through "murder — gangland style."

Kennedy, calling crime "one of the biggest businesses in America," said it had been difficult to get a close-in look at its operations because of the curtain of fear that surrounds those with such knowledge.

"This is one of the reasons the disclosures made by Joseph Valachi are significant," he said. "For the first time an insider — a knowledgeable member of the racketeering hierarchy—has broken the underworld's code of silence."

Sharper Focus

Kennedy said Valachi has brought the picture of organized crime into sharper focus.

"The picture is an ugly one," he said. "It shows what has been aptly described as a private government . . . with an annual income of billions, resting on a base of human suffering and moral corrosion."

Kenedy described how Cosa Nostra is run by a commission of 9 to 12 active members which regulates criminal "families" — gangs — in major cities, allocates territories of operation and settles disputes.

No More Yet

Referring to imprisoned New York mobster Vito Genovese, reportedly Cosa Nostra's chief, the attorney general said no move has been made to take over his job pending court settlement of his appeal from a narcotics conviction.

But Kennedy warned that if Genovese loses his appeal "we anticipate a major underworld power struggle in New York." Tommy Eboli is presently substituting for Genovese in New York and a Gerry Catena in New Jersey, he said.

Appealing for his proposed new laws, Kennedy said, "if these bills were passed this kind of hearing five years from now would not be necessary." Without them, law enforcement is just treading water, he said.

More Protection

His wire tapping proposal, he said, would give the average private citizen more protection against eavesdroppers than he now has.

As for dealing with balky witnesses, he suggested amending existing laws to allow federal courts to grant immunity from prosecution as a device to gain information. Under questioning he defended such deals as "not a precedent shaking step." There are already a dozen laws for granting immunity in some cases, he said.

The new powers he wants in this field would be applied to the "least culpable" witnesses and would be particularly helpful in getting testimony in cases involving corruption of public officials, jury fixing, labor-management corruption and gambling and prostitution rackets, Kennedy said.

2 Lincoln Kiwanis Clubs Recognized For Ag Activities

Omaha — Two Lincoln Kiwanis clubs were recognized here Wednesday for achievement in agricultural activity.

Recognized at the Iowa-Nebraska District of Kiwanis International convention were the Lincoln Kiwanis Club and the Capital City Kiwanis Club.

The over-all agricultural and conservation award was won by Lincoln Kiwanis Club. The Capital City group took the agricultural award for clubs in the 70 to 100-member division.

Capital City Kiwanis also won the Fellowship Cup for inter-club activity and took second place in over-all activities.

Glenn Turner is president of Lincoln Kiwanis and Grant Reed is president of Capital City Kiwanis.

Scandal Report Like 'Moist Firecracker'

. . . DENNING FEARS CONFIDENCE HURT

London (AP)—The long-awaited Denning report on sexual high jinks and security risks in Britain Thursday cleared Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his government of blame in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler scandal.

Lord Denning commented, however, that the case may have damaged U.S. confidence in Britain.

The report's placid tone disappointed thrill-seekers who queued for early copies of the 50,000-word document, but was a great comfort to supporters of the Conservative Party.

Instead

They had feared an explosion which could topple the government: Instead they got a moist firecracker.

Among other things, Lord Denning said there had been no lowering of moral standards among those in British public life despite the revelations at the trial of Dr. Stephen Ward.

The voluminous report was made available to an avid public at 7 shillings 6 pence ($1.05) per copy by the government printing and stationery office in London.

No Reason

Lord Denning said there was not the slightest reason to doubt Profumo's loyalty even when he and Evgeny Ivanov, the Soviet naval attache in London, were sharing Christine Keeler's favors in 1961.

Denning commented, however, that for Profumo, now 48, to set up a liaison with a girl of Christine's promiscuous sexual background "disclosed a character defect which pointed to his being a security risk."

Such a connection, Denning said, exposed Profumo, then Britain's war minister, to blackmail which might have jeopardized state secrets.

Fine Record

But he declared that Profumo's fine war and political record had justly won him the confidence of Macmillan and his other colleagues, and added:

"No one who has given evidence before me has doubted his loyalty."

However, Lord Denning questioned whether Macmillan and other cabinet ministers dealt as effectively as they might with the problem once Profumo's relationship with Christine had become the subject of rumor.

He said he would leave it to Parliament to decide whether the cabinet questioners had asked Profumo the right questions about the situation. The judge said his own view was that Profumo's conduct was such as to lead ordinary people to believe he had committed adultery.

Believed Him

Macmillan believed his war minister's denials.

The Labor Party seemed sure to seize on this for a parliamentary attack.

Denning said Ward, 50, procured 16- and 17-year-old mistresses for his friends and arranged whippings and other perversions.

Admired Reds

He said the doctor, now dead by his own hand, "admired the Soviet regime and sympathized with the Communists. He used to advocate their cause in conversation with his patients."

Ward introduced Christine to Profumo and to Ivanov.

The judge commented that if Ivanov's idea in taking up with Profumo's then-girl friend was to create a situation in which the United States would lose confidence in Britain, he may have "succeeded only too well."

Weaken

"If ministers or prominent people," he said, "can be placed in compromising situations, or made the subject of damaging rumor, or the security service can be made to appear incompetent, it may weaken the confidence of the United States in our integrity and reliability."

Dennins described the role played in the case by Lord Astor, friend of Ward, at whose Cliveden estate the main characters met, but passed no judgements.

He branded as "unfounded and untrue" widespread rumors of immorality on the part of other government ministers.

Checked

Denning reported that he checked into each allegation of misbehavior—which ranged from homosexualism to exhibitionism—without finding any evidence at all for believing national security has been or can be endangered.

"I have deliberately refrained from setting out suspicions which fall short of evidence, or immorality, or discreditable conduct which does not amount to a security risk," he reported.

"If I were to do so it seems to me that my inquiry would be turned into a witch-hunt, parallel to the (Senator Joseph) McCarthy Committee in the United States, where people would be condemned for past sins which are better forgotten and forgiven."

Answer

Lord Denning, appointed by Macmillan to make the inquiry although the opposition Labor Party had demanded a full-scale royal probe, declared "to those who, in consequence, will reproach me for 'white-washing,' I would make this answer:

"While the public interest demands that the facts should be ascertained as completely as possible, there is yet a higher public interest to be considered, namely, the interest of justice to the individual which overrides all other.

"At any rate, speaking as a judge, I put justice first."

Denning, 64, as master of the roles, is Britain's No. 2 judge.

First Time

In his report, he disclosed for the first time that British security services had been transferred to control of the home secretary—presently Henry Brooke—11 years ago. Tiis fact had been top secret.

Denning devoted much time and space to an examination of who was to blame for what happened.

The prime culprit, he said, was Profumo himself for having the liaison in the first place, then for deceiving his colleagues and finally for lying about it to Parliament.

Phone Union OKs Job Halt Over Camera

New York (AP)—A union local voted unanimously Wednesday night to authorize a work stoppage over the use of a hidden camera in a washroom of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. offices.

The camera, designed to take a picture automatically every 15 seconds, had been installed in a ventilator to identify whoever has been scribbling obscenities on the walls.

Local 1150 of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, charged it was an invasion of privacy.

Peter J. Masterson, chief steward of the 2,000-member local, said 39 other locals across the nation have promised support. He said he would seek a nationwide strike if the company won't promise never to use cameras again.

On Monday the company said no pictures had been taken. It added that it could not assure the union that the cameras would not be used in other detection operations.

MARY LEE DAVIS . . . sits in a police station with Jones.

Teen-Age Niece Of Princess Grace Gets Court's Permission To Marry

Des Moines, Iowa (AP)— A teen-aged niece of Princess Grace of Monaco and her young boyfriend, who eloped from their fashionable Philadelphia homes, received court permission late Wednesday to marry.

This bridged an important gap in the troubled affairs of 15-year-old Mary Lee Davis, who eight years ago was a flower girl at Princess Grace's wedding, and John Paul Jones, Jr., 19, son of a Philadelphia architect.

Without parental consent, the youngsters left their homes about a month ago and had been living in Des Moines for three weeks. She had been working as a waitress, he as an encyclopedia salesman.

Too Young

Because of the girl's age, they could not obtain a marriage license under Iowa law without the permission of the district court. This was granted late Wednesday by Judge Tom Murrow after a conference with the couple and the Jones boy's father.

However, it did not clear the way for a wedding. Before the couple can get a marriage license they must produce blood test certificates and written parental consent. Then three days after they apply for a license they can be married.

Apartment

They were found by police in this Midwest farm belt capital City, sharing a three-room apartment within walking distance of the downtown business district. They had been here three weeks.

Mary Lee, a demure brunette with her hair in a straight page boy bob, worked as a waitress at the Hotel Randolph coffee shop. Jones, ruggedly handsome, was an encyclopedia salesman. Both had attended private Eastern schools before they disappeared earlier this month.

Jones' father and Mary Lee's stepfather, Eugene C. Conlan, arrived here Wednesday from Philadelphia.

Permission

In a joint statement after visiting with the couple, they said:

"The children have their parents' permission to be married. As far as we are concerened that is the end of the story."

The elder Jones confirmed that his son and Mary Lee are not married now.

Conlan said: "The children are going to stay in Des Moines for a while. There are still things to be worked out."

Feel Better

After a two-hour meeting with Conlan and the elder Jones, young Jones said, "I feel better about it, now that it is in the open."

The young couple drove off in their used car, Mary Lee bundled in a large raincoat. She appeared downcast.

Mary Lee said she and John Paul met about a year ago while both were students at private high schols.

Her mother, the former Mrs. George L. Davis Jr., who was married to Conlan 10 days before the girl disappeared, is a sister of Princess Grace, one-time Hollywood actress Grace Kelly.

Decided

Mary Lee had been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. John B. Kelly, at Ocean City, N.J., when she and Jones decided to leave.

She said they decided to come to Des Moines because a brother of John Paul had traveled through the Midwest and mentioned Des Moines.

"They lived quietly and unpretentiously," said their landlady, Mrs. Evelyn Schmidt, 74. "You'd hardly know they were upstairs.

Real Nice

"They were a real nice couple, and they sure had aspects of a nice upbringing," she added.

Mrs. Schmidt said the couple came Sept. 1 and "Jones introduced himself and said he and the girl were 'Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Jones.' "

James I. Walden, who employed Jones, said encyclopedia salesmen can average $800 a month.

Impressed

He said Jones impressed him as being "an exceptionally bright young fellow, who took three orders in his first week at work."

Walden and his wife had the couple in for dinner a few nights ago and after seeing Mary Lee's picture in a Des Moines newspaper, Walden called police.

Mary Lee said they arrived in Des Moines by bus with $100 and used $85 of that for the first month's rent.

Russian Presidium Ratifies Ban Treaty

Moscow (UPI) — The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) Wednesday unanimously ratified the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The action followed by one day the U.S. Senate's approval of the pact which bans nuclear testing in the atmosphere, outer space and underwater.

(Many European newspapers hailed the Senate vote as a victory for President Kennedy and a step toward peace.)

Ratification by the presidium—the executive body of parliament—was considered little more than a formality. The Supreme Soviet's Foreign Affairs Committees had recommended approval and the press and radio had praised the treaty since it was initialed here by the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

Commenting on the results of the voting in Washington Wednesday, Moscow radio said "it testifies that common sense has at last prevailed within the walls of the American Senate."

The vote showed that congressmen "have to listen to the voice of the peoples who demand a lasting peace," Moscow radio commented.

It said that Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., "the leader of the 'wildmen,' the racist (Sen. James) Eastland, D-Miss., and senators with contacts in the military industry concerns up to the last moment continued their efforts to torpedo" the treaty.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the vote opened the way for further understanding and cooperation between the United States and Soviet Union. It echoed Moscow radio's charge that those who voted against the pact were "either racists from southern states . . . or senators who are closely connected with the munitions monopolies . . ."

Benny Leaving CBS For NBC Next Year

New York (AP) — Jack Benny, for 30 years one of the nation's top comedians and a CBS star for the past 14, will move to NBC next fall, it was announced Wednesday by NBC Board Chairman Robert Sarnoff.

The announcement, which caught CBS by surprise, came the day after Benny appeared in his first show of the new season.

Financial details of the deal were not made public, but it is well known in the industry that Benny has been unhappy about the top-level CBS decision that this season pushed Tuesday night show back a half hour to make room for a new comedy series, "Petticoat Junction." Last season, his show followed the popular Red Skelton comedy hour.

"I liked being in back of Skelton," Benny told this reporter recently. "For the first time in my life I got some help from the program that preceded me on the air. This year I'll be against the second halves of two one-hour shows. Sometimes I think the people in charge don't think about anything except helping new programs to make the grade."

Benny was launched on his career in the early 1930s as an NBC radio star.

Hastings — The Nebraska State AFL-CIO closed its eighth annual convention on a note of harmony Wednesday by sweeping its two top officials back into office without opposition.

Nisley

President Richard W. Nisley of Omaha thus moved toward a second two-year term as head of some 70,000 state members. Nels Petersen of Omaha will start a third term as secretary-treasurer.

The final speaker of the three-day convention called on labor to join farmers in "eliminating the possibility of the few exploiting the masses." He was Erhard Pfingsten, vice president of the National Farmers Organization.

"Our enemies are the same," stated the agricultural spokesman. "Your jobs are directly dependent upon the farmer's welfare because he is your best customer."

Noting that farmers averaged earnings of 82 cents an hour last year, he branded a proposal to eliminate two million farmers as "the most idiotic plan I ever heard of." Both farmers and laborers would suffer from "this deliberate destruction," he said.

Pfingsten described the NFO's holding action of last year as "only a collective bargaining tool." He added that the only way to restore farm, labor and industry balance is by re-establishing their farm prices.

Elected district members of the 10-man executive board were James Selko of Lincoln, Richard Blue of Omaha, Bruce Peters of Fremont and Don Elrod of Grand Island. Named delegates-at-large were Donald Bastemeyer, Rudy Chleborad, Paul Shaffer, Tom Regan and Robert Danze, all of Omaha, and Willard Bauer of Scottsbluff.

Earlier a $150,000 shot in the arm was given to the state labor organization for adding muscle to its promised pummeling of the Midwest Employers Council.

The pledge—the first of several anticipated—came from the International Association of Machinists.

Contributions from the various affiliates were requested by resolution to help combat union opposition said fostered by the Omaha-based corporation.

Strong words were added to the state convention's assault on "right wing radicals," this time by regional COPE Director Jack McCoy of Omaha. He was particularly scornful of unsuccessful attempts to elect "liberal candidates" in Nebraska.

A flurry over Nebraska institutions' out-of state spending prompted drafting a protest telegram to Gov. Frank Morrison.

The situation was sparked as William Fields of Lincoln, of the Allied Printing Trades Council, scolded the Nebraska State Fair Board for printing its tickets in Fort Smith, Ark.

He also charged that University of Nebraska yearbooks are handled by a Texas firm. This, he said, is not fair to Nebraska labor.

Norfolk was selected as next year's convention site.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., was accused of "attempting to undo all that labor has done to acquaint people with Social Security."

This remark came from Ray Munts, assistant director of the AFL-CIO department of Social Security.

Munts told the convention that the Kerr-Mills act cannot be considered "a substitute for hospital benefits for retired persons which they have paid for during their working years. This is a principle for which the labor movement stands and upon which it will not compromise."

Among the resolutions passed:

—Backing extension of food stamp plan from its eight depressed areas to a nation-wide program for public welfare recipients.
—Pushing legislation for 90% and 75% wage assignment limitations for married and single employes, respectively, similar to garnishment laws.
—Endorsing Red Cross Nebraska-Iowa regional blood program and opposing attempts to establish commercial blood banks.
—Opposing debt adjustment businesses and seeking regulations on those in existence.
—Enacting policy of utilizing fully the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service before resorting to economic action in disputes.
—Reaffirming support of civil rights policies of national AFL-CIO.
—Backing passage of HR 8363, the tax-cut bill, "without crippling amendments."
—Opposing compulsory arbitration as imposed by Congress in the current Railroad Brotherhood dispute.
—Condemning private fee-charging employment agencies for their "unfounded attacks on the public employment agencies."
—Urging legislation requiring total interest amounts to be stipulated on all time-sales contracts.
—Supporting HR 6339 and S 1542 to extend unemployment insurance benefits from 26 to 52 weeks.
—Urging the elimination of Post Office management service improvement program as "detrimental to employes and the Postal Service."
—Opposing Post Office work measurement system as "a high-pressure speed-up system."

Parker Case Court Rejects Letter Peery Allegedly Wrote

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A confession letter allegedly written by Wesley Peery to Charles Sedlacek at Crete, was not admitted into evidence in the Darrell Parker coram nobis hearing Wednesday in Lancaster District Court.

Winsor C. Moore, a Creighton University law professor and examiner of questioned documents, testified that the signature, when compared with Perry's authentic signatures, could be a forgery.

Under cross-examination by County Attorney Paul Douglas, Moore said he could not swear that the typewritten letter—although it contained characteristics of Peery's punctuation — actually was written by Peery.

The letter, tagged "hearsay" contained the following confession by Peery while confined in the Nebraska State Penitentiary in August, 1957:

". . . just name who you wish bumped off, as I have guts to do the job 100%, just like I took care of old . . . Nancy Parker, I can assure you I doneit ok.

". . . I sure made a monkey out of them when they gave to me the so called lie detector test, all a person has to do is to know how to react and one has it made, Ha ha heho, Savvy? you do your part of the bargion, and I will do just what I have said I will do. . ."

Parker, former Lincoln city forester, is seeking a new trial. He has been in the Nebraska Penitentiary since his 1956 conviction for the murder of his wife. His attorneys contend new evidence will show that Peery committed the murder.

Suitcase Offered

Parker's Omaha attorneys Richard Bruckner and Warren Schrempp introduced a battered brown Samsonite 21 inch suitcase into evidence Wednesday in a further attempt to prove that "Darrell Parker ddn't kill Nancy Parker because she was killed by Wesley Peery."

Three Red Oak, Iowa, men identified the suitcase, which was purportedly missing from Nancy Parker's effects, as the one shown them by Red Oak investigator Ralph Peterson in August, 1959.

In depositions, Nancy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison Jr. of Des Moines, had testified that their daughter had a suitcase which could have been the one shown them by Peterson in December, 1959.

Charles M. Algermissen of Crete, who gave Peterson permission to search the Sedlacek home surroundings for possible evidence, testified Wednesday that the suitcase in evidence looked like the one Peterson and his party found in the "debris out there."

However, he noted that the one they found looked "more apart then than now."

No Explanation

When Douglas asked what he meant by the statement, the witness was unable to elaborate.

Two Lincoln women, Mrs. Jean Kreifels and Mrs. Suzanne Kahler, testified that they had seen a small suitcase in an apartment occupied by Helen Lundy Gillming, who said in a deposition read Tuesday that she had kept company with Peery.

Mrs. Kahler said the suitcase had a nameplate with three initials on it, one of which was "N."

The Morrison's had testified that Nancy's luggage carried the initials "NEM."

Algermissen also identified three sofa pillows as those which were in Sedlacek's possession and which he gave to Peterson.

Purchased

Mrs. Morrison had said in her deposition that her daughter had told her of the purchase of some pillows in November, 1955. She said she did not see them, but believed they were purchased at Miller & Paine.

Mrs. Bessie VanAllen, retired manager of Miller & Paine's needlework department, testified that the pillows in evidence were the type sold in her department in 1955 and 1956, and identified a charge ticket showing Mrs. Parker had purchased two pillows Nov. 25, 1955.

Judge John Polk refused to admit into evidence testimony of former Penitentiary inmate Kenneth Hamilton of Omaha and a statement by Roy Dillard, a former Kansas inmate. Dillard's statement allegedly was made to Peterson and Glen Baker, accountant for the Iowa Tax Commission. The testimony and statement were rejected as hearsay.

Parker's attorneys, in an attempt to get Hamilton's testimony into the record, stated:

"If Hamilton were allowed to testify, he would tell how Peery related to him the events of the morning of Dec. 14, 1955, and how he entered the Parker home, hit Nancy and tied her up and strangled her."

The Dillard statement allegedly concerned statements Peery had made to him concerning the Nancy Parker murder.

24 Firemen, One Other In Hospital

. . . $120,000 Blaze

Omaha (AP) — Firemen fought a stubborn three-alarm blaze at an oil-packaging firm throughout the day Wednesday.

The long, grueling fight sent 24 firemen to the hospital. None were seriously injured. Some inhalation and burns from oil fumes caused most of the injuries.

One of 13 employes of the Warren Oil Company was injured trying to put out the first flames about 8:50 a.m. He was Richard Hering, 24, who suffered burns of the legs, right arm, face and shoulder. His condition was reported as fair.

Damage to the four-story brick building in the warehouse district was estimated at $120,000.

Hering told fire investigators he was welding a tank when a spark ignited the fire.

The first alarm came at 8:52. Two more alarms followed within 16 minutes, marshaling more than 100 firemen and 15 pieces of equipment including four aerial trucks and seven pumpers.

Firemen poured water throughout the day into the still-standing shell of the oil company. A fire wall prevented the flames from spreading to the adjoining Duncan Hines building.

Warren Oil packages lubricating oil and anti-freeze. Twenty-five thousand gallons of the oil were stored inside at the time the fire broke out, the president of the firm, Norman Schlott said.

$1 Million Insurance Policy Plan Suggested For Hardin

Nebraska City (UPI) — The editor of the Nebraska City News-Press said he would contribute $50 toward starting a drive for a $1 million insurance policy for University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin.

Editor J. Hyde Sweet made the offer in response to purchase of a $200,000 insurance policy to insure football coach Bob Devaney would stay at the university.

"In my book he (Hardin) is worth at least five football coaches when it comes to dispensing educational attributes so, mebbe, the policy should be for $1 million instead of only a paltry $200,000," Sweet said in an editorial.

Said Sweet: "If it is proper to bribe a football coach to stay on the job — if he leaves voluntarily he forfeits the insurance protection, I am told — it should apply to the highly useful personnel, both men and women, connected with the school which, you should know, also has departments other than athletic," Sweet said.

The cost of premiums on Devaney's policy is being solicited from alumni, fans and others in and out of Nebraska.

Ex-Child Star Takes Razor To His Wrists

Hollywood (AP) — Onetime child star Scotty Beckett slashed his wrists with a razor Tuesday night, police say, a week after his arrest for allegedly drawing a knife on a neighbor.

Beckett, 33, was treated at Hollywood Receiving Hospital and released.

His wife, Margaret, told police she arrived home at 6 P.M. Tuesday and found him "drinking and in a quarrelsome mood." The wrist slashing occurred about an hour later, she said.

Beckett was arrested Sept. 17 and accused of drawing a knife in an argument but the case later was dropped.

New Tree Policy

Beatrice (UPI)—The Beatrice Board of Public Works has adopted a new policy in regard to tree removal. Board employees will have authority to trim or remove trees on curbs and at the request of property owners will cut down trees on city property free of charge.

Summary Of Conditions

A high pressure cell will move from the central portion of Nebraska southeastward into southeast Kansas by Thursday evening.

With the high pressure area dominating the weather over the Nebraska and west Iowa area, skies will continue mostly fair Thursday, Thursday night, and Friday.

Temperatures over the area will show little change until a warming trend begins over the extreme west portion of Nebraska Thursday night, which will spread over most of Nebraska Friday.

Extended Forecast

NEBRASKA: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average 10 degrees above normal in western Nebraska and three to five degrees above normal elsewhere. Normal highs are mid 70s. Normal lows are mid 40s. Cooler at the beginning of the period, warmer during the rest of the week and cooler again over the weekend. Little or no precipitation in central Nebraska to about .25 of an inch in the east, occurring as showers during the weekend.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average three to five degrees above normal. Normal highs are in the upper 70s. Normal lows are in the upper 50s. Turning cooler at the beginning of the period, slightly warmer during the rest of the week and turning cooler again over the weekend. Little or no precipitation in the west to about .25 of an inch in the east, occurring as showers during the weekend.

The Problem of World Peace
by J. Gordon Roberts

Some years ago an experiment was conducted with a Northern Pike and some minnows, which relates directly to the problem of world peace.

The Pike was put in a water tank with some minnows, the natural food of the bigger fish. However, the Pike and the minnows were separated by a glass partition.

For a long time the Pike tried to get at the minnows, painfully bumping his snout each time he did so. Finally, he gave up.

The glass partition was removed. The Pike and the minnows swam about, bumping into one another. But never again did the Pike go after the minnows. At last, the Pike starved to death with food all about him.

In human terms, the Pike had developed a false sense of infinity. In his fishy brain he had created a glass partition which must last forever.

A man named Alfred Korzybski came along with the conception that people may do much the same thing as the Pike. People may translate their world into animalistic terms based upon properties of infinite duration. Such terms may handicap rather than help the human being to meet the problems of environment.

Alfred Korzybski organized the Institute of General Semantics. Today both the Institute of General Semantics and the International Society of General Semantics point out that a word or symbol is not the thing it represents.

From the viewpoint of this writer, nowhere in the physical universe may infinity be actually observed, save in human symbolism. Yet language and logic are both based upon what may no more be observed than the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

A change in approach might be helpful in solving the problem of war and peace.

More Than Meets The Eye

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When one considers the plight of a minority group, he is likely to have a vague mental picture of things. But some of the repercussions of minority persecution can be very real and unusual. Take, for instance, the violence that has been associated of late with the movement of the Negro race toward equal rights.

One of the more unusual problems for some Negroes and their institutions is the matter of insurance. The problem does not stem from the fact that insurance companies discriminate and refuse to provide coverage for the Negro race. But the discrimination of others and the violence that it leads to create a risk that insurance companies do not want to take. There are entire sections of residential areas where companies are cancelling policies held by Negro home owners because the area has been bombed or burned so many times. Negro business establishments and churches are often finding the same difficulty.

An Element In Insuring

The situation is pretty cut and dried insofar as insurance companies are concerned. It is a method of operation we have never come to fully understand or appreciate but recognized as one with which we must live. If the risk is too great, it simply isn't written by the insurance companies, regardless of the reason or nature of the risk.

One wonders what the really countless ways are in which the forces of discrimination make themselves felt. The minority groups come to accept much of their plight as routine since they are born into it and have no choice but to live with it, but the constant reminders of a forced inferiority must surely sap much of the joy of living.

Something out of the ordinary, from Nebraska's point of view, is reported from Colorado. The state's take from its 2 percent sales tax for the first eight months of 1963 is up nearly 5 percent from the same period a year ago. Now, when taxes go up, the people of the state involved generally moan a little, at least, as they are the ones who would be expected to pick up the tab. But not so in Colorado. The people of Colorado are still smiling, despite the fact that the state tax income has gone up. This is because Colorado has not raised taxes; its people are paying little if anything more today than they were a year ago.

The situation comes about because the increase is attributed to more tourists. This means that the people of Nebraska and the people of the other 49 states of the Union who travel or have travelled in Colorado paid the tax jump in that state. It is a pretty nice windfall when you can get it and the majority of states do. Interestingly enough, Nebraskans showed in one poll taken at the State Fair that they wanted an expanded tax base. They displayed dislike for our dominant reliance upon the one-sided and unfair property tax. However, they couldn't agree on the kind of change—some of them favoring an income tax and some of them a sales tax. How ridiculous it is that Nebraska continues to limp along on a tax system nobody wants simply because there isn't enough statesmanship to compromise on a substitute program.

It is sort of like the child who doesn't really know what he wants. As a result, the child usually settles for something someone else has—something which he is denied. If, by chance, he wins in any such contest, then he ceases to want the spoils of that victory and looks elsewhere for another contest. Why he does this only the child himself knows.

But the state of Nebraska should be mature enough by now to know what it wants. It should also be able to clearly see what is within its grasp and this means a willingness to compromise. It means putting in a little by way of sacrifice as well as taking out in the form of rewards.

Not too unlike Nebraska at the moment might be the television industry. It is opposed to a Federal Communications Commission thought of imposing federal regulations on the amount of time that can be given over to commercials. What the FCC is thinking about is federal enforcement of the code of the National Association of Broadcasters, to which radio and television voluntarily subscribe. We are not much for such action by the FCC as it has no real responsibility this far into the field of television.

Sales Pitch Timed

But if the TV industry is smart, it will recognize the danger point it has reached through over-commercialization. It may not want to be told what to do by the FCC but it would do well to consider what the FCC would do if it had the freedom to proceed as it might think best. The FCC, in the end, may have the kind of answer that television could one day want very badly.

"Latest Reports On The Non-Free Areas"

Pride In Our Own

On another page in this newspaper appears the list of semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship program. The list deserves the attention of every reader, for these are the young people whose scholarly achievement rates recognition by their townspeople and their state.

One of the problems faced by any newspaper is that somehow the stories printed about young people in trouble seem to attract more attention than the stories about the young people who do praiseworthy things. This newspaper does its level best to report the good side, and hopes its readers notice all such stories. But this story about the top 123 scholars we particularly commend to your attention.

The top scholars come from 36 Nebraska communities — some of them large cities but some of them also small villages. Geographically, every section of the state is represented.

It is pleasant also to report to you something you've always known but that is borne out again by the merit scholarship statistics. Nebraska, with something like .78 percent of the nation's population, has .95 percent of the nation's top scholars. The statistic shows Nebraska's young people aren't taking a back seat to anyone, and it shows that, despite the shortcomings in our school system that need to be met, our young people are getting a good education.

This Particular Autumn

For those who like a reason for remembering things this week can be remembered as the one when summer of 1963 ended and fall began.

It is a time both for review and for looking ahead.

In review some things are disturbing. The past summer, for instance, witnessed the end of the Internal Revenue Department's pilot test for mechanized processing of income tax returns, and the success of it too. We may expect in the future to be supervised in our tax practices by incredibly fast, utterly merciless electron tubes. The soulless machine, in one more instance, is replacing our person-to-person relationship with our government. We don't deny that the machines do as well as men and process far more returns in a given time which is a victory for efficiency and perhaps even justice. But there is nothing endearing in a machine. No one really gets much out of dialing a present day, sophisticated telephone and hearing a prayer which is a tape recording, or even calling the bank out of hours to get a cheerful message which is totally automated, operating at a vacant desk far from any living, breathing person.

We dread the day when this country will no longer elect a fallible human person as president, when it will replace him with a versatile, errorless machine into which the golden precepts of our Constitution shall be injected and the answers thereafter will emanate as unfailing verities; when even kindness will depend upon the characteristics of an electron tube rather than the bungling old human heart.

But looking ahead this particular autumn, there are some good things. First we all made it safely through the summer. A thaw in the long, bleak cold war seems certain. Thanksgiving is just around the corner and Indian summer is a glorious time for living.

On Selling Wheat

If Russia meets the price and puts up the money it is more than likely that U.S. business will depart from declared principle and sell as much wheat as possible to the Reds.

We will do so because there are economic advantages in it, and no political advantage in not doing it. Canada our neighbor has already snapped up a deal for 228 million bushels representing both wheat and flour, and will receive approximately $500 million. In short if we don't bargain, our friends will.

We have practical reasons. We have a troubling outflow of gold. We could stand an inflow of several hundred milion. Our position would be strengthened by selling wheat.

We have been unable to effect a trade embargo against the Russians. Our allies have largely ignored it. We refused to sell fertilizer plants behind the Iron Curtain. West Germany did. Great Britain's trade barriers are like a sieve. European countries, by and large, have not rejected the Russian market.

We have a 1.1 billion bushel wheat surplus which has cost and is costing the federal treasury a substantial number of millions to support. It would be a two way windfall if that surplus were reduced by a few hundred million bushels.

We have a wheat problem in agriculture, one of abiding overproduction. Added markets would reduce the problem both in volume and in price.

These are material reasons, not ethical ones. We would be hypocritical to try to cloak them with noble sounding explanations. Citing communist inefficiency, mismanagement and drought beg the question. The cause of Russia's need is not relevant. The question of whether to sell is qualitative and pertains to us. If there is any virtue in the dealing it would be in the extension of the thaw in the cold war which is a matter of as much merit as the acceptance of the test ban treaty.

JFK Overruled Space Experts

WASHINGTON — Inside fact is that President Kennedy overruled his top space experts in announcing that the United States was ready to put a Russian-American team on the moon.

The experts were so vigorous in arguing that cooperation was impossible and so sure they had JFK on their side that two top space executives went out on a limb against the idea within hours before the President made his historic moon-cooperation proposal. They were:

Dr. Robert Gilruth, head of the space center in Houston, Texas, who three days before the President's UN speech flatly and publicly stated that joint cooperation with Russia was incredible.

James Webb, director of the National Space Agency, who one day before JFK's speech poured cold water on a joint moon project before a St. Louis audience. He said frankly that the United States was interested in "the military uses of outer space."

Twenty-four hours later, Jimmy's chief in the White House pulled the rug right out from under him on two counts:

No. 1, he accepted the Gromyko idea of banning nuclear weapons from outer space.

No. 2, he proposed joint USA-USSR cooperation in sending a man to the moon.

Most people don't know it, of course, but Jimmy Webb, the delightful and energetic director of NASA, has never had the complete confidence of the White House. Jimmy was hand-picked as space director by the late Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, who, as chairman of the Space Committee, dominated Senate policy not only on oil and gas under ground but the outer air above ground. He picked Jimmy Webb for the Space Agency because Webb had been working for his own far flung Kerr-McGee oil and gas empire.

It was this combination, with an assist from Lyndon Johnson and an especially strong assist from Rep. Albert Thomas, the Houston congressman, which piled up most of the space projects in Houston. With the moon project located in Houston, the congressman from Houston, who occupies a senior spot on the Appropriations Committee, made sure it got the money.

One of the most significant points about JFK's UN speech was that he bucked the wrath of the senior and sometimes wrathy moguls of Congress by proposing the joint moon project with Russia.

For senior Congressman Al Thomas of Houston will bellow like a Texas steer at the idea of taking part of the moon project away from Houston and putting it in Moscow. And senior Senator Dick Russell will also want to cut down on the moon funds, because he doesn't favor any kind of international cooperation which might get away from his idea that war is inevitable.

Thus the President really made a tougher decision than the Russians and the diplomats at the UN realized it when he proposed the joint USA-USSR moon project.

Added Years Will Help Americans' Bad Memory

NEW YORK — I have a sieve-like memory. I can't remember names. And usually, unless they wear orange-rimmed spectacles, I can't remember faces either.

I used to be embarrassed about this until discovering—after years of exclaiming, "Why—How ARE you?" at people who flushed as they answered, "How wonderful to see you again!"—that almost everybody is the same. This is the era of the snappy introduction, the quick exchange and the instant forget. If you know anybody who doesn't admit "I just can't remember names," it's got to be Joyce Brothers, Dr. Bruno Furst or a high-pressure salesman.

The pat reason for all this memory lapsing is that the modern American is simply "not interested enough" in other people to trouble his brain with recording their images. The theory is that anyone in whom you are truly interested will stick in your mind as adhesively as your birthdate, your wedding date, your children's nicknames. If you dwell on this theory too long, you must conclude that you are both egotistical and selfish—that you don't really care to be involved with the persons around you.

There may be elements of truth in this. But I prefer to believe that—rather than being disinterested—we are all too involved with the world. This is the age of crowded urban living, of television, of thousands of photographic assaults on the brain in newspapers and magazines.

So much for our excuses. Now comes news that we CAN improve our memories without too much difficulty. Here's how:

1 — stand up and "think on your feet."
2 — keep the body temperature as warm as possible.
3 — take vitamins, and
4 — grow older.

☆ ☆ ☆

Experts, according to medical and psychiatric reports, claim it is not true, as is commonly believed, that our mental faculties wither slowly with age. Man and woman are smarter at 50 than at 21. And over 50, their mental capacities are even greater.

Scientists at the University of Chicago discovered that you do your best thinking when body temperature is high. Generally speaking, the body temperature tends to drop a point or so when you sleep, rises upon awakening, and fluctuates during the day. Try to meet people at the warmest point.

Nutrition, too, affects one's capacity to remember. Vitamins, taken fresh or in bottles, do the trick.

And body position definitely influences thought processes. Research at Lon Island University disclosed that people who are standing up perform faster and more vigorous mental work than people sitting down.

So there you are. If you want to remember names and faces, bundle up, take your vitamins, keep standing and be as old as possible.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband was recently released from a tuberculosis hospital. A couple we considered among our best friends has stopped associating with us. My husband and I are very hurt. What's your opinion? — MRS. G. H.

Of course you are hurt but you must realize that your friends, or "former friends," are the victims of ignorance.

A patient is not released from a TB hospital until he or she is known to be non-infectious.

X-ray studies show whether the disease is retarded or arrested. After this come more exacting examinations.

Sputum is studied under the microscope. It also is tested in laboratory cultures to see whether the TB germ is present. Concentrated "24-hour sputums" are similarly studied. These are collected over a length of time to avoid the chance that a single specimen might give a negative response, while another a few hours later might be positive. Sometimes stomach washings are also examined as a further safeguard.

The result of such testing is that the discharged TB patient is safer to be with than the person who may sit next to you on a bus or in a theater.

The transmitter of tuberculos is NOT a person who has just been released from a hospital, but one who assumes that he is well and nevertheless, has the disease without knowing it.

As an added point, the former patient is required to report for routine testing for a considerable time after discharge. This makes sure that the disease has not become reactivated or that it has not been contracted again.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that skim milk is harmful unless some sort of oil is drunk with it? Can I use mineral oil on the skin as a sun-tan property? — MRS. W. L. J.

There's no harm in drinking skim milk—and anyway, you get fats (or oils) from other diet items: meat, salad oils, butter or oleo, etc.

Mineral oil may cause some thickening of the outer layer of the skin if used over a long period of time. As a sun-tan preparation, it is all right unless you have a very sensitive skin.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What about carbon tetrachloride to remove spots from clothing? I've heard it is harmful to some people. Is this true? —MRS. W. J.

It's a good cleaning compound but is potentially dangerous if exposure is too great. It can cause serious illness. Be sure you have PLENTY of ventilation to prevent inhaling the fumes. If you have wounds or broken places in the hands, wear rubber gloves.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I notice that you frequently advise diabetics (I am one) to reduce or watch their weight. Just what is the connection? And how often should I have a blood test?—MRS. H. S. K.

From long experience we know that patients with diabetes are—or have been—overweight. We also know that women who have large babies (nine pounds or more) are very often diabetic, or may be soon.

Now for patients who have diabetes, why is weight control important?

First, additional weight means that more food is being eaten than is necessary. Excess weight is the DIFFERENCE between what we eat and what we NEED.

Not all overweight people are diabetic, but all diabetics have to avoid excess weight.

For whatever the form of calories—protein, carbohydrate (which includes suggar), or fat—the excess is stored in the body as fat.

If a person is thin, the calories will be converted into blood sugar so long as the body needs energy or "fuel." Only after that will the excess become fat.

Let's add to the diet an extra ounce or so of fat, or a couple of ounces of sugar or starch, or about that much protein. It will turn into blood sugar. After that, it will turn into fat—except that with a diabetic, too much piles up, first, as blood sugar. And excess blood sugar is undesirable.

A diabetic, gaining weight, is eating more than the body needs. This means high blood sugar—and danger.

In the long run, and before we had either insulin or the diabetes pills the diabetic soon reached a point at which normal (let alone excess!) blood sugar couldn't be converted into fat. The sugar poisoned such a victim and at the same time the body wasted away. The patient died emaciated.

In the mild, obese diabetic, it has been shown that the sugar tolerance test may return to normal if weight is reduced.

How often should you have a blood sugar test? It should be often if you are overweight. If your weight is normal and stable, and you are not a "brittle" diabetic, meaning an unstable one, a safety check, perhaps once a year, should be adequate. If you aren't stable, you might need one every month.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a "wrist drop"? My grown son has it.—MRS. H. N.

The muscles which hold the wrist in position are not operating correctly, so the wrist drops. "Foot drop" is a similar condition of the foot, the toes dropping or dragging with each step, instead of being raised, as occurs normally.

The explanation usually is that a nerve (controlling the muscles in question) has been damaged by injury or infection. Treatment should be by a neurologist—a nerve specialist.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

'Buddy System'

Wilber, Neb.

When Granddad married, he said Grandma knew her duty was to keep house and manage the children. She left the employment outside her home for the single women who depended on the salary for a living. Now the modern husband expects his wife to support him and the children. They expect the neighbors to look after the children or else they forage for themselves. The modern grandma is too busy keeping a job from someone who really needs it to keep body and soul together. The modern grandma's salary goes for luxuries. With husbands and wives both employed and drawing good salaries, no wonder the cost of living has skyrocketed. We who are not lousy with money are expected to pay these high prices or go without—and medical care is out of reach for us.

In Granddad's day, only three single women were employed at the courthouse. Every office hired men who supported families on their salaries. The pay was not as much as the married ladies receive now.

Now when a candidate is elected, he supplies his wife, relatives and buddies with jobs. If a job isn't available, he will get a job for them among his business associates. Other offices around town have adopted the same "buddy system."

Age and falling arches don't hinder a "buddy" from getting a job. This is called justice and a square deal. What are we who are not in this clique to do? We are too young to collect Social Security! All that is left is to move out of town.

Bid Acceptance

Holdrege, Neb.

I agree with Don McGinley in his criticism of any public body's accepting bids after the hour in which all bids are supposed to be submitted.

As a member of the Board of Directors of the Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation District of Holdrege, I can proudly state that our board will never consider any bid, regardless of how much lower it is than other bids, if the bid is presented only one minute after the time set out in the request for bids.

As a result, we never have any trouble having firms bid, as they know they will be treated fairly.

If this has been a practice of the Board of Education, I think it is high time they were changing their method of asking for bids.

Overparked

Lincoln, Neb.

For over two years a truck has been parked in front of our residence with one to seven parking violations per week. According to traffic regulations, "It is unlawful to park any vehicle at one location for longer than 24 hours," and further, "Trucks or trailers shall not be parked in a residential district except for delivery or collection purposes."

In the last 82 weeks, there have been about six weeks when the truck has not been in front of our residence, day and night. In the other 76 weeks, only 12 to 15 days have been clear. From July 29 to August 15, or 18 days, and August 19 to September 7, 20 days, the truck was not moved.

About May 23, 1963, a camping top was put on the truck which has added to the undesirable features and hazards of the street.

On July 3, 1963, a letter was sent to police headquarters and on July 16, 1963, another letter was sent to the city attorney, both giving considerable detail of the situation. Both letters have been ignored. Cruiser officers have passed before and after the letters were written but have paid no attention to the truck.

Last winter, with bare paving under a student's car and the truck and snow plowed against both vehicles, an officer "tagged" the student's car but was "talked out of" a tag on the truck.

When no attention is paid to courteous letters to the police department and to the city attorney, it seems strange, to say the least!

No Distortion

Washington, D.C.

Star Staff Writer Nancy Ray's September 21 article on my speech was excellent. I have been speaking before state real estate conventions for the past 10 years and this article is the first that did not have even a breath of distortion.

I also want to express our appreciation for printing the entire statement of Mr. Hoyt to clarify the views of Nebraska realtors on the subject of equal opportunity in housing.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Husband Finds Rising Ratio Of Widows Depressing

By ROBERT PETERSON

As a husband who enjoys being alive, I find it very depressing to read statistics on the rising incidence of widows. Before me is a bulletin from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which states, "Widows in the population are outnumbering widowers by a steadily widening margin. Currently there are about 8¼ million widows in this country . . . and the ratio of widows to widowers is 4 to 1, whereas half a century ago it was little more than 2 to 1."

What can we men do about it? When I put this query to physicians their responses always touch in one form or another on these four ancient health rules — known but largely ignored by just about everyone: (1) keep your weight within normal limits, (2) get some brisk physical exercise daily, (3) have have some leisure interests to help you relax after work and on weekends, and (4) be moderate in all things.

Billionaire J. Paul Getty, 70, has been widely quoted in the press as saying he didn't set out to become rich and that he'd really rather be a writer. His statement seemed a splendid example of the fact that whatever our accomplishments we seem to find other vocations more attractive than our own.

Someone has sent me an old cartoon entitled "Cycle of Envy" which has a remarkable tie-in with Getty's statement, for it shows an affluent old tycoon envying an author, who in turn envies a scientist, who envies an artist, who envies a humanitarian, who envies a playboy, who envies a venerable statesman, who envies a youthful ballplayer, who—to complete the circle — envies the affluent old tycoon.

Can anyone explain why it is that the older we become, the earlier we awaken? Very small children, of course, tend to awaken around six in the morning no matter how late they go to bed. But during the long years of youth and middle age we do our best sleeping in the early morning and find ourselves cursing the alarm clock that forces us to kick off the covers and get up and go to work.

It's when we pass into our 60's that we generally begin awakening earlier and find ourselves wide-eyed at five or six in the morning and unable to go back to sleep.

My father used to say that when he was working he could always sleep until 7:30. But a few weeks after retiring at 65 he found himself wide awake every morning at six, no matter how late he went to bed.

Maybe it has something to do with the ancient saying that if an old man boasts that he's always up at six in the morning, you can be sure he's sound asleep taking a nap somewhere at three in the afternoon.

Another change brought on by age is an altered preference as to the most enjoyable day of the week. When we're young, Friday with its promise of a weekend of leisure beckons as the sweetest day of the week. And Monday is the saddest.

But as we grow older and attuned to the subtle satisfactions of work, we may sense a slight let-down when Friday rolls around, knowing that we've got to find substitute satisfactions those next two days. And instead of Monday morning blues, we welcome the chance to get back into harness.

If you would like a booklet, "Basic Health Rules for Older People" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

$89.6 Million In Aid

Lagos (AP) — Nigeria has received more than $89.6 million in aid from Britain since becoming independent three years ago, the British High Commission reports.

Committee Offers To Send Negroes

Nebraska City (UPI) — Mayor Bill Dawson said Tuesday he has received an offer from the Committee for Economic Improvement of Colored People to send colored people to Nebraska City to work.

Dawson said he received a letter from Sol H. Tepper, organization chairman, saying the employment opportunity in Alabama has diminished because of automation on the farm and the retirement of land in government programs.

Tepper said the group he represents knows the labor needs of various sections of the country "and we have concluded that your area has a labor shortage."

"Since you have set an example of employment regardless of race and your citizens believe in equal opportunities for all, we would like to send a number or our colored people to your area for employment," the letter said.

Southerners To Oppose Commission

Washington (AP) — Southern senators served blunt notice Wednesday that they will offer "very determined opposition" to a move this week to make the Civil Rights Commission a permanent agency with increased power.

In the face of this warning, there was talk that Democratic leaders in the Senate would back off and merely try for an 18-months extension of the commission's life, which is due to expire Monday unless Congress acts.

But Commission Chairman John A. Hannah summoned newsmen to declare Congress should make the agency permanent or abolish it. He said his top staff members are leaving because of the uncertainty that arises every two years as to the commission's future.

Already, he said, "there is only a skeleton left of a very good staff."

"This is a poor way to handle public business," Hannah said. "Every two years we go through the dispersal of a good staff. We've done it three times in a row."

The move to give the commission another limited extension without added powers is along lines suggested by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who proposed another two-year period. He made this qualification after agreeing Tuesday with majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., to take up the matter in the Senate Thursday.

Mansfield's proposal to extend the commission indefinitely and to enlarge its powers, came as a surprise. He said he and Dirksen would move Thursday to attach it as an amendment to a House-passed bill to pay extra death compensation to the widow of an Army officer killed in World War II.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., gathered his southern colleagues in a strategy session Wednesday and told newsmen the civil rights battle could well erupt this week if Mansfield goes ahead with his plan.

Russell said the legislation proposed by the Democratic leader would turn the commission into "a super-duper snooper into every activity of this country."

He said until Tuesday he had expected an attempt would be made for only a one or two-year extension without any increase in its powers. He indicated the southern senators would not have put up major opposition to this.

President Kennedy, in his civil rights message to Congress earlier this year, urged a four-year extension of the commission as part of his package of civil rights proposals. This is now being acted on by a House judiciary subcommittee and is not expected to reach the Senate for several weeks.

Hannah said both in 1959 and 1961 staff members had reasonable assurance that Congress would approve an extension, even though it acted after the expiration dates. That reportedly is the attitude of Congress now, he said, "except that it is buried in the whole civil rights program."

The commission chairman, who is president of Michigan State University, said he decided to speak out "to call attention of the Congress and the American people to what is happening."

He made it plain he believes the commission has a future role of keeping a check on all federal activities to point out any discriminatory practices.

Also, Hannah said, it should have specific authority to gather data to supply to local communities and states—upon request and on a voluntary basis—to progress being made by other communities and states. This is what Mansfield's legislation would do.

Hannah disclosed that the agency's "final" report due to be made Monday will recommend continuance of the commission, the first time it has spoken out about its future.

Beatrice Council Is Against Creation Of Industrial Area

Beatrice (UPI)—The Beatrice City Council has taken official action to protest the creation of a proposed industrial area north of the city.

A resolution stating that such a designation would hamper development of the city to the north was passed earlier this week by the council.

The Store Kraft Manufacturing Co., located just north of Beatrice, has requested the Gage County Board of Supervisors to zone the area in and around their plant an industrial zone. City officials have indicated such a move would restrict the area's possible annexation into the city.

A hearing of the proposed zoning has been scheduled for Oct. 23.

The city council also voted to instruct the city zoning and planning board to initiate a plat for an area north of the city, including the proposed industrial area. The plat would be made with the possibility of annexing the land into the city.

Judiciary Subcommittee OKs Strong Rights Bill

Washington (UPI) — A House Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday tentatively approved an omnibus civil rights bill stronger in nearly every respect than the one President Kennedy requested three months ago.

The subcommittee, after weeks of closed-door deliberations, inserted a provision for a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with power to fight discrimination in job hiring and promotion in most private businesses.

Also tentatively approved was the President's controversial public accommodations section to outlaw discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other privately owned business open to the public.

Mrs. Murphy Covered

The subcommittee's proposed ban extended even to the now-famed "Mrs. Murphy" boarding house, but would exempt any owner-occupied private homes offering no more than five rooms for public rental.

The group, led by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., also went beyond the President's request by proposing authority for the attorney general to file suits in any case involving an alleged violation of civil rights. Kennedy had asked only for this authority in school desegregation cases.

So strong was the subcommittee's tentative action that administration supporters expressed fears they would lose needed strong Republican support for the civil rights package.

'It Might Strangle'

After Celler's announcement of the subcommittee's action, one key GOP figure questioned whether it was so strong "it might strangle" the bill's chances on the house floor.

Celler announced completion of work on the bill just before the House voted on the President's $11 billion tax-cutting bill. Administration critics had charged that the Celler group's progress had been kept secret this week while Kennedy forces wooed Southern Democratic support for the tax bill.

The subcommittee will take a final vote on the rights bill next week. It then must go to the parent Judiciary Committee, which Celler also heads.

$100 Limit On Ad Signs With Alcohol

A liquor wholesaler who also distributes soft drinks may not use funds from his soft drink business to provide retailers with signs costing more than $100 if the signs in any way show that beer or other alcholic drinks can be bought on the premises.

That was an attorney general's opinion given Wednesday in response to a question from the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert R. Camp wrote the opinion.

A Nebraska law provides that a liquor manufacturer, distributor or wholesaler may provide advertising signs for inside or outside use with the limitation that the signs may not cost in the aggregate more than $100 in a year.

This prohibition does not apply to soft drink signs if they contain only words advertising non-alcoholic drinks, the opinion said.

Speech, Hearing Session Planned

A workshop for public school speech and hearing therapists will be conducted in Lincoln Friday by the State Department of Education's Office of Special Education, it was announced Wednesday.

State Commissioner of Education Dr. Floyd A. Miller said the one-day workshop will be followed Saturday by the annual fall convention of the Nebraska Speech and Hearing Association. Both meetings will be held at Hotel Cornhusker.

The workshop's morning session will consist of discussions concerning record keeping and report writing.

2 Courses Set

Two short courses will be featured during the afternoon session. Dr. Margaret Byrne of the University of Kansas will teach "Speech Improvement in the Classroom," and Dr. Ernest Burgi of the University of Pittsburgh will teach "Working with the Hard-of-Hearing Child in the Public School."

The convention's Saturday morning session will feature a panel discussion on "The Team Approach to a Multiple Handicapped Child."

Mrs. Judith Gaines of the University of Nebraska, Dr. Byrne and Dr. Burgi will serve on the panel.

Dr. Marshall Hiskey of the University of Nebraska will speak on "New Approaches to Evaluating the Deaf" Saturday afternoon.

The association's regular business meeting will follow Dr. Hiskey's presentation.

Expect great things from Chevrolet again-for '64

More luxury, more style in the most luxurious Chevrolet ever. Look at it, you'll see the luxury. Sit in it, you'll feel the luxury. Drive it . . . you'll want the luxury of the 1964 Chevrolet.

If you thought Chevrolet was luxurious before, you should see it now. With smart new bumper-to-bumper styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new luxury series this year, the Impala Super Sports, with 15 color choices and about the posh-est interiors you've ever seen (front bucket seats are standard and come in an elegant new vinyl that's softer and thicker).

The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted. Of course, you'd expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet.

A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's ranging up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost) with quieter transmissions to match. The great roadability of Jet-smooth ride with its stable Full Coil suspension. Things like flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes and the sturdy, long-lasting Body by Fisher that cut down upkeep.

Maybe you've wondered just how luxurious Chevrolet can get. This year—with all the extra-cost options like air conditioning, Comfortilt steering wheel, AM-FM radio and even an automatic speed and cruise control available at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom—that seems to be entirely up to you.

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan—one of 15 Jet-smooth luxury Chevrolets

'64 Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Never before have you had this choice of power in a Chevy II, the Super-Thrift four-cylinder, two six-cylinders or a new Turbo-Fire V8—more kinds of engines than any other car. Now you can have your economy as lively as you want it!

One of the things you'll like most about the low-cost '64 Chevy II as far as economy goes is that it doesn't go too far.

Those four lively, economical Chevy II engines you can choose from this year will show what we mean. With any of them—the 90-hp Super-Thrift 4, 120-hp Hi-Thrift 6, new extra-cost 155-hp Turbo-Thrift 6 or the new extra-cost 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8—spending less on gas is just half the fun.

Add everything else about Chevy II you'll see at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom—the comfort of its family-size Body by Fisher, the smooth-riding Mono-Plate rear suspension, along with such low-upkeep features as flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delcotron generator and larger self-adjusting brakes—and you'll know why it's hard not to like saving money with a car like this!

THERE'S 5 IN 64

CHEVROLET

See FIVE different lines of cars at your Chevrolet showroom

Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

Not a new model, but a wholly new and different line of cars. See it, admire its styling. Sit in it, admire its room. Drive it, admire its own particular ease and comfort. You've never seen, felt or driven anything like it before.

Chevelle is a new kind of car you may find very attractive in more ways than looks alone. It's a good foot shorter than the big cars, so Chevelle fits into standard metered parking spaces by a comfortable margin. Yet its interior dimensions—seat width, leg room and the likes—are surprisingly generous. (Chevelle's trunk is roomy, too.)

Just about everything's new in Chevelle but the Chevrolet quality. It has a Body by Fisher, of course, with flush-and-dry rocker panels, protective inner front fenders and expensive-looking touches like curved side windows and recessed controls. The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprising for Chevrolet, you can get anything from a 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp 4-barrel-carbureted V8 (optional at extra cost) —14 engine/transmission choices in all.

See the new Chevelle at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom. It's available in three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series—with eleven models to choose from. One of them could be exactly the kind of car you've always wanted.

Like that bucket-seat Malibu Super Sport Coupe below, for instance?

New Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe

'64 Corvette Sting Ray Sport Coupe

Big new engines, same old fun.

Actually, even the fun can't help being more so with the big new air-cooled 6 that goes into every '64 Corvair. It's still at the rear, of course, for better traction and easy handling, but gives Corvair more hill-climbing and cruising power than ever—nearly 19% more with the standard engine, a full 110 hp in the extra-cost version. The engine isn't all we've improved upon, either. We've geared up all Corvair transmissions to handle that extra power. We've even added a whole new Corvair series this year—the 150-hp Turbocharged Monza Spyder. If you think all these changes in the '64 Corvair are just for kicks, try one out today at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom—and see for yourself just how right you are!

America's sports car never felt better

What may look like the biggest change in the '64 Corvette is that new one-piece rear window. But wait till you drive it. Major refinements in the independent 4-wheel suspension make Corvette ride more smoothly and quietly than you might think any all-out sports car has a right to. Without, we hasten to add, the slightest change in roadability or handling precision. There's more, too—including new and improved manual transmissions to go with any of Corvette's four big V8's —standard 250 hp, extra-cost 300 hp and new 365 hp or 375 hp with fuel injection. All in all, about the only competition this one's got is the Corvette Sting Ray Convertible. See them both at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom!

Tailoring Experts Defend Philip's Double Breasted Suits

London (AP) — A pair of tailoring experts downed scissors Wednesday and came to Prince Philip's defense for wearing double breasted suits.

"Prince Philip carries his double breasted jackets well," said John Newton, secretary of the National Union of Tailors and Garment Workers. "He has the right figure for them."

A columnist had called Queen Elizabeth II's husband one of the worst dresed men of the year for wearing what he described old-fashioned double breasted suits.

Newton said:

"Prince Philip keeps his double breasted jackets buttoned, which many less careful persons should do.

"Some men wear double breasted coats unbuttoned and allow the foreparts to dangle to their knees like a flag at half mast on a rainy day."

John Taylor, editor of Tailor and Cutter, an arbiter on male style said:

"About 95% of British men wear single breasted jackets which might suggest that his royal highness may be out of style."

Pointing out that Prince Philip's duties are different from most men's, Taylor continued:

"The double breasted jacket is more formal than the single breasted, and as Prince Philip has to attend many formal functions, I see no reason why he shouldn't wear double breasted jackets. Anyhow, he likes them."

Asked if he saw any signs of a comeback by the double breasted suit, the editor replied:

"No, not yet, but Prince Philip's insistence on wearing them might be the impetus that's needed to make them fashionable all over the world again."

A couple of years ago, Taylor criticized the wearing of folded handkerchiefs in a straight line across the top of the breast pocket.

He said it was an Americanism that should not be copied by well-dressed Britons.

At that time, Prince Philip was wearing his handkerchiefs straight across the pocket.

He abandoned the style and went back to the handkerchief with the casual look.

Chinese Say K. Hoodwinked People

Tokyo (AP) — Red China said Thursday that Premier Khrushchev had "deceived and hoodwinked" the Soviet people. But, it said, the people will wake up in the end.

"Khrushchev had caused dark clouds to overcast the Soviet Union, the first socialist country in the world," said the Chinese leadership in a 30,000-word article in the official People's Daily and the theoretical journal Red Flag.

"But this can only be an interlude in the history of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and of the Soviet Union. People who are deceived and hoodwinked for a time will gradually wake up in the end. History has confirmed, and will continue to confirm, that whoever wants to turn back the Soviet people in their advance is like the grasshopper in the fable which wanted to stop the chariot. He will never succeed in his aim."

The joint article, broadcast by Peking radio and monitored here, was entitled "Is Yugoslavia A Socialist Country?"—a question it answered with a withering no. After denouncing Yugoslavia's President Tito, it charged:

"Whether in domestic or foreign policy, Khrushchev really regards Tito as his teacher and is sliding down the path of revisionism hard on Tito's heels."

The lengthy Chinese article was the latest installment in a blistering war on words between Peking and Moscow which has brought the two former Commuist allies close to a break in relations. The Chinese continued the practice adopted in recent weeks of throwing aside all the niceties and singling out Khrushchev by name as the villain of the Communist movement. They went further and virtually invited the Soviet Party to repudiate Khrushchev.

"Khrushchev," the report said, "has abandoned Marxism-Leninism, scrapped the 1960 statement (of 81 Communist parties condemning Yugoslavia) and wallowed in the mire with the renegade Tito clique, in complete violation of the interests of the Soviet Union, the Soviet people and the people of the whole world. This will not be tolerated by the great Soviet people, the overwhelming majority of the members of the CPSU (Soviet Communist Party) and cadres at various levels, all of whom have a glorious revolutionary tradition."

UPW Set Back

Perry, Iowa (AP) — The international United Packinghouse Workers of America Union, which is resisting the formation of independent unions at Iowa packing plants, received its second setback Wednesday at Perry.

Lawrence Stiner, Minneapolis, Dies

Lawrence M. Stiner, about 53, of Minneapolis, died there early Wednesday. His widow is the former Harriett Talbot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot of Lincoln.

Mr. Stiner was vice president of the American Linen Supply Co.

Survivors include a son, George, and a daughter, Jessie, both living at home.

Stockpile Report Hits Ike Aides

Washington (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., released Wednesday a stinging criticism of the nation's $8 billion defense stockpiles in the wake of Republican charges of political bias.

The voluminous report centered most of its criticism of multimillion dollar losses, windfall profits and questionable contracts upon George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury under Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But it also listed most of the other Eisenhower Cabinet members as active in the then secret policies and contracts which have built up huge surpluses of strategic and critical materials.

A few hours before the hurried release of the thousands of words, Sen. J. Glen Beall, R-Md., protested that the document was a slanted political attack upon respected officials of the Eisenhower administration.

3 Didn't Agree

Three members of the Symington investigating group refused to agree to the report: Sens. Beall, Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Strom Thurmond, D-S.C.

Case made public a letter from Eisenhower which strongly defended his stockpile policies and decisions.

Eisenhower said that he "firmly rejected the policy of too-little, too-late stockpiling" and when he left office in 1961 "the nation was strongly situated in this regard to deal with the forces of international Communism."

Symington, who directed the year-long inquiry, called in newsmen and handed out the 99-page document.

Much of the report centered on $100 million stockpile nickel purchase contracts made with the Hanna mining interests. Humphrey was top official in this operation before he quit to become secretary of the treasury.

$4,159,321 Windfall

The report charged that "the total windfalls and profits accruing to the Humphrey family from these two nickel contracts amounts to $4,159,321."

The report said Humphrey and his family controlled 14% of the "profits or windfalls that the Hanna Mining and Hanna Smelting enjoyed."

It also criticized these other former Eisenhower officials:

—Arthur S. Flemming, former stockpile policy official, later secretary of health, education and welfare and now president of the University of Oregon. It said Flemming manipulated stockpile goals and gave special treatment to some contractors.

—Douglas McKay, former secretary of interior, who was charged with bringing political pressure to increase stockpile purchases of minerals, including lead and zinc.

—Sinclair Weeks, former secretary of commerce, who was accused of obtaining special favors for friends who were stockpile contractors.

—Felix E. Wormser, former assistant secretary of interior and lead company official, who was said to have revised stockpile goals upward.

Dewey Threatened

The report listed Thomas E. Dewey, former Republican presidential candidate, as threatening a $70 million suit against the stockpile officials on an aluminum contract for the Harvey Aluminum Co.

It said Dewey notified Flemming the suit would be filed unless the stockpile agreement was carried out even though the stockpile then had an aluminum surplus.

President Kennedy set off the stockpile probe in January 1961 at a news conference with a statement that the more than $7 billions invested was a "burden on public funds and a potential source of excessive and unconscionable profits."

4 CONE MAN IN ACTION

With the temperature zooming to a sizzling 107 degrees Wednesday in nearby Los Angeles, chimpanzee Bosco from Pacific Ocean Park Zoo in Santa Monica, Calif., shows 'em how to beat the heat. He's all decked out with four—count 'em—ice cream cones. Bosco figures there's nothing like being well supplied as he takes it easy on the bench.

More Air-Conditioned Schools Are Likely

Omaha (AP)—The Board of Education's pleasure over low bids for the first air-conditioned Omaha school has prompted thought of using it in all school buildings here.

Contracts for an air-conditioned Nathan Hale Junior-Senior High, including swimming pool, were awarded for considerbaly less money then was budgeted for the school without either air conditioning or pool.

State May Get Funds For Diagnostic Center

State Institutional Director George Morris Wednesday told fellow members of the Governor's Interagency Committee on Mental Retardation he has been informed federal money may be available for development of part of the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot as a child diagnostic center.

Morris said he received a letter from the Bureau of the Budget to the effect that the buildings at the depot will be kept intact and can be taken over by the state in a year or so unless some federal agency puts in a bid first.

The State Department of Institutions has been eyeing part of the huge depot, now declared surplus to military needs, for a youth center.

Morris and Dr. Harold Abel of the University of Nebraska were named chairman and co-chairman of a special subcommittee to study the feasibility of the proposed youth diagnostic and treatment center.

Morris said he understands the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare would like to see establishment of some kind of regional youth center at the depot which would also serve surrounding states.

Another subcommittee was formed at the request of Gov. Frank Morrison to explore the possibility of providing services, counseling or some kind of help to the families of children on the waiting list to enter state institutions.

The interagency committee will meet again Nov. 27. Mrs. L. A. Enersen of Lincoln, chairman of the group, said she hopes the committee will have a progress report and recommendations ready then for submission to the governor.

U.N. Group Rates Congo Top Priority

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — At the urging of the Congo the U.N. Budgetary Committee Wednesday gave top priority to the question of maintaining a limited U.N. force in that country for the first half of next year.

The United States, which is among the nations supporting continuation of the force, said it was optimistic that the General Assembly will approve the costs, estimated tentatively at $18 million to $25 million, depending on its size. But some U.N. diplomats predicted a tough fight ahead.

An initial clash came in the 111-nation Budgetary Committee when the Soviet Bloc delegates argued that the question should be decided by the 11-nation Security Council. The Soviet Union has veto power there.

Russians Charged

Jaja Wachuku, foreign minister of Nigeria, accused the Russians of dragging international politics into the situation. He said he spoke on behalf of 32 African U.N. members in supporting the request for priority, made by Congo Delegate Theodore Idzumbuir.

Idzumbuir reminded the delegates that Premier Cyrille Adoula had requested the United Nations to keep at least a 3,000-man force in the Congo after the first of the year to guarantee maintenance of order.

Secretary-General U Thant has declared that 6,000 men are needed in order to maintain an effective force.

Wachuku said the number is subject to negotiation, and that 5,000 is likely to be considered acceptable.

Thant has estimated it would cost $25 million to keep a 6,000-man force on the job. He wants the assembly to let him know not later than the first week in October whether it will approve the costs.

Served Notice

He has served notice that unless such authorization is forthcoming he plans to discontinue the force after the first of the year.

Just before the committee met Thant issued a statement saying many delegations had consulted with him on the Congo, but that his position remains unchanged.

At the special session of the assembly last May, a plan was worked out under which the United States would shoulder 37% of the cost for maintaining the force through the end of this year. The previous over-all U.S. contribution was about 48%.

Something similar may be worked out for the first six months of 1964. But the basic issue—the refusal by the Soviet Union, France and a number of other countries to contribute anything to the Congo financing—remains unsolved. The Soviet Bloc and some others are regarded as certain to put up a strong fight against continuing the force.

Peru Enrollment Rises Slightly

Peru—First-week enrollment at Peru State College shows a slight increase in fulltime students with an over-all total approximately the same as a year ago, according to President Neal S. Gomon. Full-time enrollment is up 3.2% with part-time enrollment showing a corresponding drop. Total college on-campus enrollment at the close of the first full week of school was 777.

Campus high school enrollment is 120, up 22 students over last year. The campus elementary school enrolled 157, down from last year's total of 164.

RAIL UNION SAYS MEDIATORS LIMITED TO ANSWERS

Washington (AP) — The union said Wednesday that Congress had directed arbitrators in the railroad work rules dispute to limit their activities to finding solutions for issues still unsettled in the controversy.

This contradicted a demand by the railroads Tuesday that the 7-man arbitration board set up by Congress last month to head off a nationwide rail strike should ignore all settlement offers by the railroads in the past 4½ years.

"Congress deliberately confined the scope of congressionally prescribed arbitration to the narrowest possible area," said Lester B. Schoene, chief counsel for the five operating unions.

Schoene addressed the board in the second day of public hearings on the first of two questions the board must decide — whether 32,000 firemen are needed on freight and yard trains.

After three weeks of public hearings on the firemen question, the board will shift to the crew consist issue — the question of how large a crew is needed on freight trains.

The board's decision on both issues must be accepted by both sides.

After the board ended its second day of public hearings, the unions and railroads met to discuss seven side issues excluded by Congress from the compulsory arbitration. If these issues are not settled by the new round of talks, the nation again may face the threat of a nationwide rail strike next spring.

Issues Limited

"This board does not start where the presidential railroad commission started, nor where the emergency board 154 started," Schoene said. "Public Law 108, from which this board derives its sole authority, limits the issues to those on which both parties were in disagreement following their negotiation on the Aug. 2 proposal by the secretary of labor."

Schoene referred to a commission named by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower which made a 15-month study of the work rules question and an emergency board named last spring by President Kennedy.

The railroads accepted the recommendations of both groups. The unions rejected them.

In their opening statement Tuesday, the railroads said there had not been agreement on a single point in the two key issues during the past 4½ years.

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in a report to the board on his efforts to mediate the dispute, said there were substantial areas of agreement before negotiations collapsed in August.

Because Congress had set the Aug. 2 proposal as a starting point, Schoene said that this meant the board must accept the principle of eliminating any jobs by attrition, as the people holding them retire, die or switch to other jobs.

This would avoid any wholesale dismissal of railroad employes.

Schoene said it is too late for the carriers to withdraw their "public, consistant, unequivocal" acceptance of the report of the emergency board, which recommended eliminating all jobs by attrition.

Weil Heads Chamber

Myron Weil, Lincoln banker, was elected president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce by unanimous action of the directors Wednesday.

Weil

He will succeed current president Willard Townsend at the annual chamber meeting in December.

Other officers named for 1964 terms include:

Thomas Panzing, first vice president; Don Parker, second vice president; Walter Nolte, third vice president; Dale Tintsman, treasurer; and John Fraker, secretary.

In a brief acceptance statement Weil said he was awed by the community responsibilities of the Chamber leadership but stimulated by the high achievement of the Townsend administration. He pledged himself and the other new officers to maximum efforts for continued Chamber achievement.

By custom, officer nominations are made by resident past presidents. The 1964 slate was offered by A. James Ebel, Roy Cunningham and George Bastian.

In other business, the directors approved a resolution memorializing the community service of the late Vern Hedge, former Lincoln mayor and Chamber president.

They also heard activities reports of the traffic committee, the Junior Chamber and the Women's Division of the Chamber.

Also passed was a resolution introduced by the agriculture committee asking greater federal efforts toward expansion of the U.S. share in international wheat trade, and calling for higher standards and quality of American wheat going into foreign trade.

Six Nebraskans To Attend River Basin Conference

Six Nebraskans will participate Oct. 7-8 in the 10th annual conference of the Missouri Basin Research and Development Council at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

They include John Muehlbeier of Lincoln, member of the council's executive committee; State Resources Division Chief David Osterhout; Bert Evans, extension rural areas development specialist at the University of Nebraska; Charles Cocks of the Corps of Engineers in Omaha, and C. R. Draper and Perry Roys of Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha.

Council member states include Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana. The council's aim is to stimulate industrial and commercial growth among member states.

Roys is council chairman.

Gold Medals Go To Reservists

Omaha (AP) — Ak-Sar-Ben awarded gold medals to outstanding National Guard, Air Guard and Army and Navy reserves, including State Adjutant General Lyle A. Welch.

Other recipients included:

National Guard: M. Sgt. Emmett E. Marr, Hastings; Sgt. 1c Virgil A. Hagel, Gering; Sp. 4 Robert Wiester, Kearney.

Navy Reserve: Signal 1c Ronald R. Schroder, Fremont.

Army Reserve: S. Sgt. Larry N. Harder, Hastings; S. Sgt. Norman W. Huber and Sp. 4 Stephen O. Frazier, North Platte; Sgt. John H. Suhr and Sp. 4 Kermit O. Bohling, Fremont.

Oklahoma Firm Gets Pool Work

Beatrice (UPI)—The Beatrice City Council has awarded a contract for the construction of a new $159,000 swimming pool to the firm of Pascal P. Paddock, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Paddock's bid was low by a considerable margin.

Bids of two other firms were rejected because they went over the bond issue approved last spring by voters. Construction is scheduled to be started this fall with the pool to be ready for use by Memorial Day next spring.

2 Cool Women Halt Runaway Bus; Driver Fatally Stricken

Wheeling, W. Va. (AP) — Two cool-headed women halted a runaway bus at the edge of a 300-foot dropoff Wednesday after the driver suffered a fatal heart attack.

The bus was on a local run from Wheeling to the suburbs of Mozart and Bethlehem when driver Fred Dowler, 61, of Wheeling, was stricken.

About 10 passengers — all women—were in the bus when Dowler slumped over the wheel.

Mrs. Anna Klinkler, 57, of Wheeling, sitting three seats back, rushed to Dowler's aid as Mary Roman, 20, also of Wheeling, yanked the emergency brake before the bus left the road.

Mrs. Klinkler said Dawler was gasping for breath as she held his head. "I didn't dare touch the pedals or levers," she said. "I've never driven a car in my life."

Dowler was the father of Mrs. Klinkler's son-in-law.

Mrs. Klinkler said Dowler had just started down a moderate incline on the rural road after having stopped to shoo a wandering cow back into a pasture.

"We had just started to roll when he went limp," Mrs. Klinkler said.

All the women got out of the bus after Miss Roman had brought it to a halt. But before Mrs. Klinkler had a chance to step out the bus began to roll again.

"I was in there alone with him and there we were at the edge of the cliff. Thank God I had sense enough to grab the wheel and steer the bus away from the hill," she said.

The bus came to a final halt as Mrs. Klinkler eased it into an embankment on the other side of the road. She stepped out unhurt.

Impact Of 19 Tax Studies 'Not Great'

Nebraska's legislators have conducted 19 tax studies in the past 25 years but the impact of these studies has not been great the Nebraska Tax Research Council said Wednesday.

The Legislative Council studies, the privately financed research organization concluded, appear to have had little more influence on tax legislation "than any other voice in Nebraska."

"It is possible to look back over the past 25 years and observe many legislative changes designed to improve the tax system," the tax council commented in a special report.

"Many of these changes have been recommended, suggested or at least mentioned in one or more of the studies.

'Influential?'

"Therefore, can it be said that the studies are extremely influential? It cannot.

"Most legislation aimed at improving the system has been recommended in Legislative Council studies many times before its adoption, and then only after private citizens and organizations have put on a strong promotional program."

Oddly, the council said, only one of the 19 studies dealt exclusively with sales and income taxes, although sales and income tax proposals have provoked bitter fights at nearly every session of the Legislature. Two other reports, including the McClelland report last year, dealt in part with sales and income taxes.

Although the McClelland report triggered some important new laws, "All of the ideas contained in the bills approved by the Legislature have been discussed before," the report said.

"Also, it is important to note the fundamental principles expounded in the conclusions and recommendations of the McClelland report (that Nebraska enact a flat rate income tax) were rejected by the Legislature."

The research council reached these conclusions:

If a study is to be made at all, it should be exhaustive and contain conclusions and recommendations.

Legislative bills carrying out the recommendations should be introduced at the first session following the report.

All future studies should be aimed at answering two questions: Is the present tax system fair? Will the justice and equity of the system be improved if the recommendations are adopted?

PRESIDENT ENTERS SOVIET-U.S. WHEAT SALE QUESTION BY CALLING FOR REVIEW

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy moved into the Soviet-U.S. wheat sale question Wednesday by requesting two House committees to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges Thursday and review possible deals.

The request was made of the agriculture and foreign affairs committees.

Announcing this Wednesday night, Agriculture Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., said a joint meeting of the two committees with the cabinet members will be held Thursday afternoon.

Kennedy's request heightened speculation that the Soviet Union already has approached the U.S. government, either directly or indirectly through trade sources, regarding the possibility of buying American grain.

Recent Sales

Cooley said the joint session will go into recent Canadian and Australian sales of grain to the Reds as well as whether this country should relax trade policies to encourage Soviet purchases of farm products.

"If our policy is to step aside and permit all other free world nations to take world markets, we will never be able to sell the commodities we now have stored in our warehouses," Cooley said.

The question to be answered is a simple one: Is the United States willing to make its wheat available to the Soviets at the cut-rate price the grain is offered to friendly countries under an export subsidy program? On a 100-million-bushel deal, the American taxpayer would contribute about $60 million.

Top-level closed conferences on a possible U.S.-Soviet grain deal were held at the Agriculture Department and on Capitol Hill. Involved in these meetings was the subsidy issue.

Meanwhile grain markets in this country, in Canada and Europe buzzed with reports of potential big scale deals. A group of American grain merchants was in Ottawa, Canada, seeking discussions with a Soviet purchasing group which last week bought $500 million worth of Canadian wheat to supplement the Communists' short crop.

In Duluth, Minn., for a land and people conference, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told newsmen that the sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviets is a decision that will be made "at the highest levels of government at the proper time."

Untrue

Freeman said reports that a decision has been made are untrue. Earlier, an aide said that the U.S. government has not been approached with regard to a possible deal.

Nevertheless activity here indicated the government anticipates that a request will be made by the Soviets, either directly or thrugh grain merchants.

There are no regulations now which bar the sale of American wheat to the Soviets at the domestic price. This price is supported by a farm program at about 60 cents above the world market. The Soviet Union ovviously does not want to pay the hgher domestic price.

At the Agriculture Department, conferences involving Asst. Secretary Roland B. Renne, who supervises foreign trade matters, department lawyers and grain experts were held to lay out the groundwork for a possible high level diecision on the price matter.

Renne arranged to meet with members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Agriculture Committees. Representatives of the state and commerce departments also were invited.

Congressonal sources said the administration wants to find out what the attitude of Congress might be to subsidized wheat sales to the Soviets. Last week several members of Congress called for favorable action on the government's part.

The News Around Town

First there is news of informal courtesies—a picnic supper on Saturday evening, Sept. 28—and a small dinner party on Friday evening, Oct. 11 and both parties for Mr. and Mrs. John Baylor. Mr. and Mrs. Baylor (she is the former Mary Colt Haeffley) were married at Pocasset, Mass., on Aug. 17 which, of course, is not exactly news to anyone.

Anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Baylor will be complimented on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball are a picnic supper host and hostess at their home. The guest list, so we hear, will include a group of Mr. Baylor's old and close friends.

The dinner party on Friday evening, Oct. 11 will have Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer and Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Smith as hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith. A small group of guests has been invited.

* * *

And now—guests.

Arriving in Lincoln on Sunday, Oct. 6, will be Mrs. Burton Whitmore of Santa Barbara, Calif., formerly of Lincoln. Mrs. Whitmore will be the houseguest of her sister-in-law. Mrs. Willard M. Folsom during her stay in town, and we suspect that although her time in Lincoln will not be too long she will be kept on the hop, skip and jump with numerous informal courtesies.

From Lincoln Mrs. Whitmore will go to Chicago for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wedel and their two children. Then Mrs. Whitmore will continue on to Millsboro, Del., where she will be the guest of another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter and their family.

Then we learned of some potential guests — Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aitken, Jr., and their young son, Paul, will be coming from Chicago early in October for a brief visit with Mr. Aitken's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aitken.

* * *

The brand new coeds on the Nebraska campus will get out their best white gloves on Friday afternoon and attend a tea in their honor. This is the annual Dean of Women's Affair, and it is expressly to welcome the new charmers to the University of Nebraska campus.

The tea hours are from 3:30 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock, and in the receiving line in the Pan-American Room at the Student Union will be Miss Helen Snyder, dean of women; Mrs. Clifford Hardin, Miss Madeline Girard, panhellenic director; Mrs. Adolph Wenke, resident director of women's residence halls; Miss Mary Louise Holman, director of Louise Pound hall, and Miss Edith Jean Cooper, assistant to the dean of women. Representatives from the various women's groups on the campus will assist at the tea.

New Family In Town

A new family in town includes Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Maddox and their son, David, who arrived very recently from New Paltz, N.Y., and who will become permanent Lincoln residents.

For Mrs. Maddox the return to Lincoln is just a matter of homecoming — She is the former Janet Frerichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Frerichs, and a Tri-Delta at Nebraska.

Mr. Maddox soon will become well acquainted in his new city, especially with devotees of art and art museums. He has just been named assistant to Norman Geske, director of the University Art Galleries — the Sheldon Memorial Art Museum.

Both Mr. Maddox and Mrs. Maddox are particularly interested in art. Mr. Maddox taught at the New Paltz branch of the University of New York, and Mrs. Maddox has been given recognition at various show for the jewelry which she designs and makes. Incidentally, Mrs. Maddox will have a night class in jewelry making at the University.

Junior Club Greets New Members

At a party at the Hillcrest Country Club on Wednesday afternoon, the Junior Women's Club of Lincoln welcomed 18 new members. The new group learned of the various activities and projects of the Junior Womens Club, and spent an afternoon meeting the current members of the organization.

In the picture, beginning at the bridge table at the left, are (clockwise) Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mrs. Charles Roach, Jr., Mrs. F. E. Rheinschild and Mrs. Marc Anthony. At table two (in background) Mrs. Robert Krejci, Mrs. Donald Beck, Mrs. B. C. Best and Mrs. Merrill Rose. Standing (background) Mrs. Dayle Williamson (left) and Mrs. R. H. Sullivan.

Suburbia Filled With Vim And 'Vigah'

SOUTH HILLS

The cooler temperatures seem to have put that "get up and go" enthusiasm in many a Suburban family, for everyone seems to be full of vim and vigor, ready and willing to start—or continue—their fall social events.

The fall season also means the opening of the hunting season—especially when it comes to antelope.

Eager South Hills residents who were off at the crack of dawn last week enroute to Cheyenne, Wyo., and the western part of Nebraska were Paul Nickeson, Larry Haight, Roger Prochaska and Ron Merry.

These four hunters, who returned home on Monday, brought with them, at last count, four of the deer-like ruminants.

Early fall vacationers who have just returned home, as of last Friday evening, are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson spent their two-week holiday in the Black Hills and visiting with relatives in the South Dakota and Nebraska area.

While in South Dakota, they attended the Lawrence Welk show at the Corn Palace—then on to Faulkton, where they spent some time as the guests of Mrs. Johnson's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Don Striven and family.

Returning to Nebraska, the travelers visited in Magnet and Randolph as the guests of several relatives.

The cool weather seems to have put many Suburban families in the traveling mood, for motoring to Cedar Rapids and Albion last weekend were South Hills residents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Starkey and children, Dale Dwight, Debbie and Duane.

In Cedar Rapids they picked up Mrs. Starkey's mother, Mrs. Christine Scriven, and from there motored to Albion where they spent the afternoon visiting with Mr. Starkey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Starkey, and with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kuntzelman and their sons, Merle and Eldon.

Winter, spring, summer or fall—no matter what the season—it's always time to celebrate birthdays.

And entertaining on Monday evening in honor of their niece, Miss Judy Kaye Allen, were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bomberberger who were assisted by their children, David and Mary.

Dinner guests in celebration of Judy Kaye's 16th anniversary included her mother, Mrs. Harlan Allen and her sister, Marcilee.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee during the weekend were Mrs. Lee's father and brother, Lawrence Hanson and Loren Hanson, both of Kennard.

Mr. Hanson and his son arrived on Saturday to attend the football game between the Huskers and the Jackrabbits.

This, however, was not the end of the guest list for on Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lee entertained Mrs. Lee's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Splittgerber, and his sister, Diane, at an informal dinner.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

Among the many Cornhusker fans who will go to Minneapolis for the Nebraska-Minnesota game this week end will be Mrs. Avery Mason and Mrs. Claire Helmsdoerfer.

Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Helmsdoerfer will be leaving Lincoln Saturday morning via plane and will return home that evening.

Dear Abby

Bitter Cure, Maybe

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who would call the police and tell them to pick up his own son for driving in a drunken condition? The boy had had only a few drinks and was not so drunk that he would have endangered his own life, or anyone else's. He was 19, had been driving for three years and never had any trouble with the police before this. Don't you think this was a pretty rotten way to teach his son a lesson?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I doubt if many fathers would inform on their own sons—whether or not I advised them to do so. But if that were the only way to keep a dangerous drunk off the streets—to prevent his death as well as the death of others—I think a parent should ask the police for help.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody started a rumor about me. No one seems to know who started it, but a very good friend of mine told me she heard it from a person who said she heard it from another very good friend of mine. The person who was SUPPOSED to have started it has been a good friend for years, and I don't believe she ever said it. The middle person would be more likely to have started it. I promised not to go back to the person who was supposed to have started it, but I would like to hear it from the horse's mouth. How do I do it?

TALKED ABOUT

DEAR TALKED: Ignore the rumor. The only thing you can be sure of getting from the horse's mouth is a horse laugh.

DEAR ABBY: That woman who warned women drivers against wearing high heels because her heel caught on the rug and jammed the gas pedal, causing her car to go out of control and landing her in the hospital, could have avoided the accident. How? By simply reaching down and turning off the ignition. Women drivers, bah!

ALL MAN

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NICKI"; what makes you think he's different? A man who'd cheat on his wife would think nothing of cheating on his girl friend.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO MEDIOCRE AND MISERABLE: "Use the talents you possess. For the woods would be very silent if no birds sang except the best."

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "E": If you would first forgive yourself, you would find it easier to forgive others.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
6 ♦

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The declarer who plays percentages is sure to do well in the long run. Though he does not see the opponents' cards and therefore must grope blindly on many hands, he will still come out on top in most deals if he follows the law of probabilities and puts to use any information he obtains from the bidding or play.

Take this hand. West leads a club and South cannot tell at this point how he will eventually fare. The result depends largely on how the adverse cards are divided. He must lose a spade if West has the king, and he may or may not lose a trump trick, depending on the luck of the deal.

The first thing he should do after winning the club is take a spade finesse. This is much better than leading a trump first, because he does not yet know the best way of handling the trumps.

In the actual hand the spade finesse succeeds and South now makes sure of the contract by entering dummy with a heart to lead a low trump.

If East follows low, South finesses the eight to be certain he does not lose more than one trump trick. Of course, if East produces the jack or king on the trump lead, South takes the ace and returns a trump.

The only other possibility is that East shows out on the trump lead, in which case declarer wins with the ace and plays another trump towards the queen.

If the spade finesse had lost, South would then have been in the position where he could not afford to lose a trump trick. His best bet in such case would have been to cash the ace of diamonds as soon as he was on lead and hope that one opponent or the other was dealt the singleton king.

How to handle the trumps most effectively cannot be properly determined until after the spade finesse is taken. Declarer tackles spades before diamonds so that he will know whether to invoke a trump safety play.

The Morning For Questions And Answers

Patricia Scott

If you're an inexperienced seamstress and plan to make your first winter coat, study the pattern instruction sheet carefully before starting the job.

Q. I'm going to make my first winter coat and want to be sure I do everything right. I've looked at some of my other coats and notice that the hems are stitched differently from regular ones. The stitch looks something like a cross stitch but I can't seem to do it. Please advise me.—Miss V. MC G.

A. This is the catch stitch. It's used so that there is lots of play between the layers of fabric you join. Also if done properly, there will be no marks on the right side of the coat after the hem is pressed. Unklike most other stitches, this one is made from left to right but with the needle still pointing toward the left. Fasten thread in hem. Take a small back stitch near where the thread came out on the coat. Take another stitch like the first, ¼ inch to the right in the hem, but through only one layer of fabric. Continue these zigzag stitches in the hem and in the garment until the hem is finished (see illustration).

Q. How can I salvage some old terry towels? They are perfectly good, except the selvage edges have become frayed. If I can fix them I can use them for the family and save my good ones for guests.—Mrs. T. C.

A. Bind each selvage with double-fold bias tape to match the towels.

Q. After numerous dry cleanings, my zippers often grind and stick and I have trouble pulling them closed. What can be done?—Miss L. M.

A. The original lubrication has been exhausted, so you'll have to relubricate the zippers. Either buy a special lubrication or beeswax at a notions counter.

Q. Tailor's chalk is wonderful . . . the first time you use it. After that it seems to dry up and it's almost impossible to get a mark. So?—Miss J. S.

A. So . . . use a knife to sharpen the entire edge of the chalk. You'll then get a good, definite mark.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column.

123 Are Merit Scholarship Semifinalists

One hundred-twenty three Nebraska high school seniors Wednesday were among 13,000 students who were announced as semifinalists in the nationwide competition for National Merit Scholarships.

Twenty of the 123 students attend four of the Lincoln high schools.

The seniors became semifinalists in the 1963-64 program through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test administered in more than 16,500 high schools last March.

The test is the first step toward winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to a college of the student's choice. The semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories. A second examination will determine the finalist in the Merit Competition.

In the past, according to NMS officials, about 97% of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by NMSC and about 175 business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

Names of the Merit Scholars will be announced by the end of April 1964. Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years with a stipend tailored to the recipient's need. Awards may reach a maximum of $6,000 but average about $850 a year.

The Merit Program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Nearly 7,500 Merit Scholars have been appointed to date — 1,500 in 1963 alone.

Semifinalists in Nebraska who will compete next spring for NMS awards are:

Swiss Demonstrate

Basel (UPI) — An estimated 3,000 persons demonstrated here at the Swiss premiere of a controversial German play about Pope Pius XII's attitude toward Jews during World War II.

POSTCARD by

Along about 1519, Hernan Cortez sailed into Vera Cruz with 600 men and 16 horses.

"Behold the rich lands," said a cavalier on the sun struck deck.

This seemed a likely omen to Cortez. He named it La Villa Rica de la Vera Cruz. The Rich City of the True Cross.

Eventually the sand flies drove the Spaniards inland to Cempoala. But the port is still a seaport—the rattle of ships' winches wakes you in the morning. And early before dawn, I went out on the balcony and saw a lighted freighter docking. So close and so still that you could hear the jangle bell of the engine room telegraph.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is warm down here on the coast. The town has a small but pretty plaza with trees planted in an orderly manner.

One whole side of the street is a series of restaurants under portals.

It is brightly lighted. The food is good. It is one of the liveliest streets in Mexico for business.

There are boys with baskets of chewing gum and peanuts. They wear a sort of small gourd on the first finger. They signal what they have to sell by rapping on your table.

There is the man selling serapes. He has a big white mustache and a big straw hat. His serapes are over his shoulder. He stands off at 10 paces and unfolds the serape to show you.

"I do not need a serape."

"No?" As though you had said, "I do not need clothing."

After unfolding the serape, he puts one end in your hand. If you take it, he lets go. As if you had bought it.

The lottery ticket sellers are all over the sidewalks. Dodging among the waiters.

A few dogs wander among the tables. If you speak to them, they sit down as though invited to dinner. A few merchant seamen, slightly drunk, lurch up the street. A boy passes by carrying a huge lobster.

Photographers are on the street. They will take your picture and have it back in 15 minutes in an ornate frame. Price, $1.24 for three.

An Indian in sandals is selling model airplanes. He carries half a dozen ranging from three feet to three inches. They are tin or aluminum and very realistic. "Vera Cruz" is painted on each wing.

A street band of three marimba players and a man scraping on a gourd plays under the portals. After a couple of pieces, the man with the gourd passes around among the tables and asks for contributions.

At one end of the square, there is a rickety streetcar line. When the car comes up to the corner, the policeman blows his whistle and waves it on. The streetcar motorman pays no attention to him.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is a tall church across the street, glowing with candle light. The benches in the plaza are filled with people. The air is warm and there is a smell of rain.

For a few cents, you get a huge platter of fresh shrimp. They serve it with a plate of limes and a bottle of fiery red hot sauce. The best local fish is small red snapper sauteed in butter. The Mexican beer is light and tangy.

The serape salesman is back. He has his hat down in front as a disguise. He also has a different supply of serapes. Most of them are the rainbow colors of Saltillo. The kind that sells best to the tourist.

Two dogs are waiting for dinner under the table.

This is where Cortez laid out the city. Where the painters of Montezuma sat and drew photographic likenesses of the strange bearded men in the ships with sails. Of the brass cannon and the horses.

The Rich City of the True Cross.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Tumble Became Turning Point For Hohn's Career

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A fall down Nebraska's Memorial Stadium steps gave one of Nebraska's top high school athletes a shot at NU stardom, something he could never have achieved without the fall that left him badly injured.

While Bob Hohn has a long way to go to reach the all-star category in Husker grid history, that fall two years ago was a turning point.

Hohn had been a three-sport star at Beatrice, excelling in football, track and basketball to earn the Sunday Journal and Star High School Athlete of The Year award in 1960.

No Football

But when the handsome 6-footer showed up on the NU campus that fall after scoring three touchdowns in the High School Shrine Bowl game, doctors refused to okay him for football because of a back injury.

"The back had bothered me some in high school, but I didn't think it was bad enough to keep me from playing football," Hohn says.

Doctors told the Beatrice native that he would be able to play football if he had an operation on the back. "But I didn't want an operation," Bob notes, "And I had given up on ever playing football again."

This was a tough disappointment for an athlete who had devoted his early years to performing on the football field, the cinder track and on a basketball court.

Hohn's greatest fame came in track where he still holds the best time in the state for the low hurdles at 19.0. But it was in football that he was being wooed by several major colleges including Iowa, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Northwestern, Wisconsin and USC.

Minnesota Considered

"I had thought most seriously about Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska," says Hohn. But I finally decided on Nebraska, mainly because of a home-state pride, but also because I didn't think I could play in the Big 10.'

Hohn will get a chance to try his hand at Big 10 football Saturday when the Huskers meet Minnesota at Minneapolis.

But despite the fact these grid powers felt Hohn could play football for them, it was the bothersome back that stopped him—until the Stadium fall.

Hohn explains that he was running up and down the Stadium steps when the fall came. "When they told me I couldn't run because the fall had injured my back, I decided to go through with the operation," he says.

After the operation, Hohn was told he could now play football and the Huskers had another face in camp when fall practice opened a year ago.

Hohn spent considerable time picking up bench calluses last season as he tried to regain the form and timing that had deserted him during the two year absence from football.

The speedy Husker halfback sent visions of bygone sports fans heads Saturday days spinning through when he took a handoff from quarterback Fred Duda and outran the South Dakota State defenders 51 yards for a TD.

The score was the first touchdown for Hohn since the 1960 Shrine Bowl game when he scored three in helping the South to a 47-6 victory.

"Hohn is a vastly improved player from a year ago," says NU backfield coach Mike Corgan. "He is a good runner and is one of the best pass defenders we have."

Corgan notes that Hohn also has come along well at blocking "with the equipment he has."

"His size handicaps him somewhat as a blocker," Corgan explains.

The disappointment of being turned down for football by the NU doctors was not the first disappointment Hohn had suffered in sports.

One of his most disappointing moments in high school sports came in the 1960 high school track meet when Preston Love, now a teammate at NU, beat him in the high hurdles.

But when Bob came back to win the low hurdle gold medal, setting a new state meet record at 19.4, his coach Willis Jones termed it the greatest victory of his life.

"Bob won the greatest victory of his life at the state track meet," Jones said. "Immediately after losing in the highs he rushed over to congratulate Love and to this day he has not offered the slightest alibi for the loss."

Hohn won another victory when he battled back from a back injury that had threatened to end his athletic career to earn a key spot on the 1963 Husker grid team.

Injury Bug Hits NU; Two Sophs Sidelined

. . . BATTLE AT RIGHT HALF

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's backfield numbers were reduced by two Wednesday with fullback Bernie McGinn being shifted to right guard and right halfback Ron Poggemeyer sidelined with a hand fracture.

Poggemeyer, who had been running well down the list of right halfbacks, broke the hand in Monday's practice session, but the fracture wasn't discovered until X-rays were taken.

The Nebraska City sophomore worked out with the Huskers Wednesday with his hand in a cast, but will be unable to play for at least four weeks because of the cast.

"We may ask for a hardship ruling from the conference in his case," Devaney said. If Poggemeyer does not play the rest of the year and the Big Eight approves the hardship rule, Poggemeyer would still have three years of eligibility. He played only briefly against South Dakota State.

McGinn was moved to the right guard spot in an effort to bolster one of the weaker Husker spots from a depth standpoint.

"We are quite adequate in offensive fullbacks and feel that McGinn will be able to play more and help us more at the guard position," Devaney said.

Another Husker sophomore, Gary Brichacek of Schuyler, is out for the season and will have knee surgery this fall.

The Husker coach named a 40-man traveling squad for the Minnesota game Saturday at Minneapolis and said the starting lineup was set with the exception of right halfback.

Kent McCloughan, who started against South Dakota State, and Bob Hohn are still battling for the starting spot at right half.

Ducats Still Available For Minnesota Contest

The Nebraska ticket office still has ducats remaining for the Huskers' game with Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday, ticket manager Jim Pittenger said Wednesday.

The tickets will be on sale until 11 a.m. Friday at the NU ticket office.

Former Giant Sentenced To 10-Year Term

Houston (AP) — In a quiet courtroom, Hank Thompson, former New York Giant third baseman, received a 10-year prison sentence Wednesday.

Thompson, now 39, had entered a plea of guilty to charges of robbery, burglary and felony theft.

"This is one of the toughest sentences I have ever had to pass on anyone," said Judge John Barron.

"You are still a young man," Barron told Thompson. "You have a great past and you still have lots of friends. Keep your prison record clean and I'll give you all the help I can.

Thompson, whose full name is Henry Curtis Thompson, silently nodded his thanks.

Thompson was arrested in July. He was charged with taking two pistols from a friend's print shop and using the guns while taking $150 from a liquor store.

Grimsley Says Huskers To Top Gophers, 19-14

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York (AP) — Bud Wilkinson is a big moment coach and Oklahoma is a big moment team—the kind that comes up for dramatic situations. Such a situation arises Saturday when the Sooners play Southern California with the No. 1 national rating at stake.

This is also bounce back week for such red-faced teams as Washington and Mississippi as well as for this crystal ball-gazer, whose opening mark was 30-13 for .697.

A new day—a fresh guess:

Oklahoma 18, Southern California 10: Neither team played at best last week. The quick, lean Sooners should stop Pete Beathard and his mates in a rugged game.

Wisconsin 24, Notre Dame 14: The fighting Irish show more fight than usual under interim coach Hugh Devore but the Badgers hammer away at their weak tackles.

Michigan 19, Southern Methodist 14: Home field advantage; if it were in Dallas, we'd take SMU.

Rice 8, Louisiana State 3: The Owls are always tough for the Tigers from Jim Corbett's bayou land.

Penn State 22, UCLA 7: Coach Rip Engle has exhausted the alphabet, and now he's down to the "Z" formation.

Washington 15, Pittsburgh 13: The Huskies atone for last week's letdown; the powerful Panthers seem to play better on the road.

Purdue 17, Miami, Fla. 13: The Boilermakers have a new look—the "I" formation and more offensive zip.

Tesas 25, Texas Tech 0: Tommy Ford should be good for two or three touchdowns.

Army 21, Cincinnati 7: The Cadets are young and make mistakes, but they have more speed.

Colgate 18, Cornell 14: The Big Red has a fine quarterback in Gary Wood, but little to go with him.

Alabama 28, Tulane 0: Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia pour it on in a bid for the No. 1 ranking.

Froehling Will Play For U.S.

Bournemouth, Eng. (AP)—The Americans sprang a big surprise and named bullet-serving Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., along with Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley for opening singles matches against Britain Thursday in the Interzone Davis Cup semifinals.

McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., and San Antonio, Tex., will meet Britain's hard-hitting Mike Sangster in the first match, to be followed by a battle between 6-foot-4 Froehling and the left-handed Billy Knight.

The first match is at 6 a.m. CST.

The doubles match, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston opposing Sangster and Bobby Wilson, will be played Friday, followed by final singles Saturday, in which line-ups are reversed.

The Yanks are slightly favored over a British team that has gained the Interzone competition for the first time since 1937.

Froehling's selection for one of the singles berths—and his designation as the No. 1 U.S. player—came as a distinct shock since the Americans were expected to use Ralston, hero of the U.S. victory over Mexico in the American Zone final.

"Froehling has come along very fast and he is picked because we honestly feel we have the best chance to win with him," said Bob Kelleher, Los Angeles attorney who serves as U.S. captain.

Foss Suggests '64 Grid Game

. . . NFL COLD ON IDEA

New York (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Wednesday his league might make a formal proposal to the National Football League for a championship playoff in 1964.

"We have indicated in the past that we would like to meet them in a playoff," said Foss at a press luncheon of the New York Jets. "Always, in the past, their answer has been, 'We don't play games with people who are suing us.' We sued them because we thought our case had merit but we lost. Now that is out of the way."

The AFL lost an appeal Monday of its $10 million monopoly suit against the NFL in a decision announced in Baltimore.

Foss made his comments in answer to a question.

'Personal View'

Later he explained. "Of course, you realize this is my personal view. Anything formal would have to be drawn up by the eight league owners."

If the league should decide to make a formal proposal, it undoutedly would not be made until late in Janurary when the NFL holds its annual meeting in Miami Beach.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, poured cold water on the idea when he said, "We have no plans for such a game."

'Let's Decide It'

"We definitely are interested in a championship game," said Foss. "There is no reason why there should be any question about which team would win. Let's decide it on the football field where such arguments should be decided.

"Everybody was feeling sorry for Sonny Werblin and Weeb Ewbank—president and coach of the Jets—before last week's game. After the smoke cleared it was a little different story. I remember the old All America Conference. The teams that went into the NFL gave a good account of themselves. The Cleveland Browns dominated their division for years."

Asked if he thought his league was any closer to the NFL than it had been, Foss said, "Yes, I would say we are closer. For one thing, we have shown people that we are here to stay."

Foss reported enthusiasm about the AFL when he spoke recently at Greenville, S.C. and Asherville, N.C.

Guglielmi To Retire

New York (AP) — Ralph Guglielmi, traded to the San Francisco 49ers by the New York Giants Tuesday, decided to retire Wednesday and passed up an estimated $437 monthly pension when the 49ers wouldn't meet his terms.

Guglielmi, 29-year-old former Notre Dame All-America quarterback and a pro since 1955 at Washington, St. Louis and New York, decided to retire and return to his insurance business at Washington, D.C.

Under the National Football League's pension plan, a player must be on the active roster for at least three games a year in five years, starting in 1959, to become eligible.

After the announcement from San Francisco of Goog's retirement, the Giants canceled the original deal. Then they completed another that also resulted in safety Ed Dove coming to the Giants from the 49ers for a future draft choice. Originally it was Dove for a draft choice and Guglielmi.

McHan Claimed

Baltimore (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that quarterback Lamar McHan had been claimed on waivers by the San Francisco 49ers.

McHan, a 30-year-old veteran of nine seasons in the National Football League, said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., before deciding whether to join the 49ers.

From Now On, It's Gray Suit For Stan

By Associated Press

Stan (The Man) Musial, who's been wearing Cardinal flannels for 22 years, became a member of the gray flannel suit set Wednesday while he played the last road game of his career.

At the same time Musial was making his road farewell during the Cardinals' 5-2 victory at Chicago, it was announced in St. Louis that the 42-year-old Cardinal great had been voted a vice president of the organization.

The Cardinals' triumph — snapping a six-game losing streak — was heightened by still another tribute to The Man, who was made an honorary citizen of Chicago in pre-game ceremonies but was unable to collect a hit in two at-bats before he left in the third inning.

Sandy Koufax became the fourth pitcher since 1900 to reach the 300-strike out level in one season as the National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 1-0. Koufax struck out eight, for a 306 total, and allowed only four hits in a five-inning workout that brought him his 25th victory, most in the majors.

The Dodgers' lone run came in the first inning on two-out singles by Wally Moon and Tommy Davis, and a wild pickoff throw by Mets' started Roger Craig.

Meanwhile, Jim Bouton allowed only three hits in a seven-inning workout and posted his 21st victory as the American League champion New York Yankees tuned up for the World Series with a 3-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Baltimore kept Gary Peters from becoming the first rookie 20-game winer in the majors since 1954 by downing the Chicago White Sox 10-2.

In other AL games, Ken Retzer slammed a three-run homer and three singles in Washington's 6-2 triumph over Detroit and Kansas City edged Boston 7-6 with Ed Charles' sacrifice fly in the seventh inning accounting for the winning run. Cleveland and Minnesota were not scheduled.

In the only other NL day game, Don Demeter hit a three-run pinch-hit homer and Johnny Callison followed with a two-run homer in a seventh inning rally that gave Philadelphia a 6-4 decision over San Francisco. Willie Mays collected a triple, two doubles and a single for the Giants.

In night action, Warren Spahn hit a homer and won his 22nd game as Milwaukee belted Cincinnati, 9-5, and Housted edged Pitsburgh, 2-1, with a two-run seventh inning aided by two Pirate errors.

Saturday's Games Should Tell Story

. . . NU IS UNDERDOG

By DICK DUNKEL

Twelve big games of Saturday should reveal who's really who in the higher college football rankings.

Of these contests, Southern California versus Oklahoma appears to be the closest while Alabama-Tulane looks the most lopsided.

Here's the latest from the continuous Index on how current leaders have rated themselves over Saturday's opponents. If they improve upon these differences their ratings will rise, or vice versa.

Alabama 41 over Tulane
Wisconsin 17 over Notre Dame
South'n Cal even with Oklahoma
Ole Miss 18 over Kentucky
Navy 36 over Wm. & Mary
Northwestern 7 over Indiana
Minnesota 4 over Nebraska
LSU 17 over Rice
Ohio State 16 over Tex. A&M
Ga. Tech 12 over Clemson
Arkansas 6 over Missouri
Florida State 1 over TCU

Through last Saturday the higher rating team had won in 70.9% of the 256 games, not counting ties, covered here by the Dunkel system. The latter is a progressive index of score-difference relative to opposition rating.

Index differences in other big games of Saturday follow:

East — Penn State 15 over UCLA, Pitt 1 over Washington W. Virginia 9 over Boston U., Boston College 11 over Wichita, Army 16 over Cincinnati, Dartmouth 15 over Bucknell, Harvard 14 over Mass. U, Princeton 2 over Rutgers.

MIDWEST — Syracuse 2 over Kansas, Illinois 3 over California. Iowa 17 over Michigan, Mich. State 8 over North Carolina.

SOUTH — Florida 10 over Miss. State, Purdue 9 over Miami, Fla., Tennessee 3 over Auburn, Georgia 18 over Vanderbilt, N.C. State 9 over So. Mississippi, South Carolina 7 over Maryland.

SOUTHWEST — Texas 20 over Texas Tech, Baylor 8 over Houston, Arizona State 6 over New Mexico State.

FAR WEST—Oregon 6 over Stanford, Oregon State 18 over Colorado.

'A' Status For Blair, Omaha Beveridge

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha Beveridge, a new school, and Blair, up from Class B ranks, have gained Class A status in high school athletics.

Unofficial boy enrollment figures reveal that the eastern schools will replace Gering and Lexington in the top division of the A-B C-D classification used by the Nebraska School Activities Assn.

The system is used to determine placement in basketball and track competition and is followed in the rating of football teams.

The number of boys in grades 9-12 is the basis for classification.

This year's breakdown shows probable changes in classification for 28 schools.

Lexington drops back to Class B after one year in Class A even though gaining 15 boys. Blair gained from 227 to 260 and Beveridge has a roster of 258 boys.

Grand Island Northwest, which dropped its Class VI tag Monday, makes it debut as a large Class C school with 96 boys enrolled.

Other changes in classification:

Class B to C — Bayard, Fullerton, Morrill, Oakland, O'Neill, Wood River.

Class C to B—Fremont Bergan, Hooper, Rushville, Springfield, West Point.

Class D to C — Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Johnson, Overton, Spalding Academy, Sterling.

Class C to D — Butte, Callaway, Cedar Bluffs, Fairmont, Lewiston, Mead, Pilger, Prague.

Dropping from the Class D roster because schools were closed are Dunbar, Inman, Liberty, Broadwater, Center, Wood Lake and Ragan.

31 Oregon State Gridders Are Ill

Corvallis, Ore., (AP)—Thirtty-one members of the Oregon State football squad were down Wednesday with what appeared to be the flu. Coach Tommy Prothro, who also was a victim, called off practice.

Prothro said no plans have been made regarding practices the rest of the week.

OSU is scheduled to play Colorado Saturday at Portland.

Bellino To Steamrollers

Providence, R. I. (AP)—The Providence Steamrollers of the Atlantic Coast Football League said Wednesday former Heisman Trophy winner and Navy backfield star Joe Bellino has signed to play professional football with the team.

Yankees Are 5-8 Series Favorites

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—The oddsmakers in Las Vegas have made the world champion New York Yankees 5-8 favorites to win the 1963 World Series over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Yanks' Whitey Ford is a 5-6½ pick to beat the Dodgers' National League strikeout king, Sandy Koufax, in the opener on Oct. 2.

Odds on the Dodgers to take the series are 7-5.

Celtics Waive Guarilia

Boston (AP)—The Boston Celtics placed Gene Guarilia's name on the National Basketball Association's waiver list.

Craft Signs Colt Pact

Houston (AP) — Harry Craft signed a new one-year contract Wednesday as manager of the National League Houston Colts.

Kennedy Sees Sino-Soviet Split As World Security Booster

Billings, Mont. (AP) — President Kennedy said Wednesday a split within the Soviet Bloc has increased the chances for a more secure world.

Kennedy, on a coast to coast tour devoted to conservation, suddenly departed from the theme completely here, while 12,000 cheered from the open grandstand, declared:

"As there has been a division within the Communist Bloc," he said, "we have made progress—not for an easier existence but a chance for a more secure world."

Kennedy said: "We want to lessen the chances of nuclear collision that could kill 300 million people in a day. That's what we're trying to avoid. That's why I wanted the test ban treaty."

Never-Ending

The President said the fight for conservation is one that can never end.

"The fight for conservation must go on," Kennedy said in a speech prepared for delivery here. "It will always go on . . .

"For it involves the basic right of Americans and all their descendants to enjoy the outdoors, as a part of our tradition and our culture, and essential to the health of the nation."

And at the University of Wyoming in Laramie, Kennedy called for a fresh look at conservation, saying we must drop the traditional view that we should merely hoard the nation's resources.

The goal: "Above all, maintain a living, evolving balance between man's actions and nature's reactions."

'Bury Goldwater'

Some student Young Democrats put a highly political complexion on this allegedly non-partisan affair by toting placards that read "Bury Goldwater." This was a dig at a Republican quite popular in the Mountain and Southwestern States, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The local ROTC unit, however, insisted all signs come down, including those favorable to the President.

Kennedy is on a week-long trip in which conservation is the main theme. But there is a presidential election coming up a year from now, and he is aware that he's in the heart of an area that gave its heart, and votes, to the Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon, in 1960.

Pro-Conservation

Fortunately, it is also an area that believes in, and profits by, conservation. So Kennedy makes a special effort to say how much federal aid can mean here.

In his prepared speech at the University of Wyoming in Laramie he once more used a line that runs through nearly every talk:

In resouce development, all sciences have important jobs to do—"It is in efforts such as these that the federal government can and must play an important role."

Although Kennedy strongly believes in conservation, on this trip he is having a hard time getting much missionary zeal into it.

He wanders from the text frequently, and occasionally doesn't even go near it. In a brief speech at Cheyenne, Kennedy was able to go unabashedly political. He made an all-out pitch for Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., who will be up for re-election.

Asked For Help

Kennedy said three years ago he had come to Cheyenne and asked for help in getting this country moving again.

"With the articulate and effective support of such men as Gale McGee," he said, "we have been able to make a start."

Earlier Wednesday Kennedy got an honorary degree from the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

A huge sign at the front said: "The University of North Dakota welcomes you to the campus of the Fighting Sioux."

But the honorary Fighting Sioux tossed away most of his prepared speech—which dealt mostly with two topics dear to North Dakotans, the Rural Electrification Administration and cooperatives. Instead, he dealt mostly in a general endorsement of conservation principles.

Sometimes it seemed the President had trouble keeping his mind firmly on his topic, for at one point he plugged for the big Garrison Dam and said this would double the total water area in North Dakota.

"Nature put the lakes there 50 years ago," Kennedy said, shortchanging natural history considerably. "Now man makes them."

Chief Justice Warren Defends Supreme Court

San Francisco (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, showered with honors in his home state, delivered an almost unprecedented defense of the United State Supreme Court Wednesday night.

And, for the first time, Warren denied "terrible controversies" have raged in the court.

He spoke in emphatic terms against critics who accuse the tribunal of invading states' rights. What they overlook, he said in an address prepared for the state bar convention, is that American fundamental law expressed in the Constitution is designed to protect the rights of the individual.

The 72-year-old former California governor reviewed a decade of landmark cases emblazoned with the civil rights issue. This included seven of the United States Supreme Court's justices and most of California's judges of all courts.

The occasion was a special ceremony honoring Warren on the 10th anniversary of his appointment to the nation's top judicial post.

Earlier, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California charged "hate mongers" were out to undermine the Supreme Court.

"I know," he said, "that the bar of this state will give no haven to the John Birch Society, which has become nationally infamous in its efforts to impugn the integrity of one of the greatest chief justices in our history."

Warren said there are people on the outside who "for reasons of their own, have enlarged upon an occasional sharp retort in court or a few caustic sentences in a dissenting opinion to build imaginary feuds that never existed.

"I could count on the fingers of my hands—possibly one hand—all the times that there has been even a flare of temperament in the conference room, and those have always subsided in a matter of minutes."

Of stories about "terrible controversies" among the nine justices, Warren said he had never chosen to issue a denial because "it ill behooves the court to deny" what he characterized as fabrications.

"However," he added, "because there is no such charge in the news at the present time, I feel free to say to you that all of them were unjustified by the facts."

Warren, who wrote the 1954 school desegregation opinion, said there have been few eras in the 175-year history of the Supreme Court in which it has not been the center of intense controversy.

Most of the "climactic decisions," he said, were rendered in an emotional atmosphere.

He noted that in its 1936 term there were 160 opinions; only two were on civil rights and liberties. But in the 1960-61 term, 54 of the 120 decisions dealt with that field.

"The main reason we have so many civil rights cases these days is because the very atmosphere in which we live is charged with that subject," he said.

Senate, House Agree On Military Pay Boost

Washington (AP) — A Senate-House compromise was reached Wednesday on a bill to give pay increases to most persons in the military services with two years or more service. The cost is estimated at $1.2 billion a year.

The fatter pay envelopes would begin Oct. 1 under the agreement reached by a Senate-House conference committee.

Largest increases, ranging up to $100 a month, would go to lieutenants, captains, majors and similar ranks in the fighting forces.

The committee decisions are subject to approval by the Senate and House.

The increase would be the first in military base pay since 1958.

The higher pay schedules also would apply to reservists and national guardsmen for drill pay and training duty.

Persons now receiving military retirement pay would get a 5% cost of living increase, except for a few thousand higher ranking officers who retired just prior to the 1958 pay boost. They would be allowed to recompute retired pay if this resulted in an increase.

Originally, the Senate approved increases for all commissioned officers and certain enlisted ranks with less than two years service. This was dropped in the compromise.

Also dropped was a House provision which sought to increase the rations or food allowances for most enlisted personnel.

Pentagon officials said ths would be handled lated in separate legislation.

Cost Of Living Holds Firm; No Major Change Expected

Washington (AP) — The cost of living held firm during August, and no major changes are expected during the autumn months.

This was the outlook reported Wednesday by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The consumer price index for August was 107.1, the same level as in July. This compared with a jump of five-tenths of 1% from June to July, and a three-tenths of 1% rise from May to June. The August index, however, still was 1.5% over August, 1962.

This meant that it requires $10.71 to purchase the same goods that could be bought for $10 during the 1957-59 base period.

A spokesman for the bureau said the index is expected to remain firm through September. He added:

We don't see any big increases in the months ahead. We don't see any strong inflationary trend. Any increases will be moderate and in line with the trend in recent years."

Major factors during August were a two-tenths of 1% drop in food prices and an offsetting five-tenths of 1% rise in transportation costs.

It was primarily a sharp drop in prices for fresh fruits and vegetables that shoved food prices down. Even with the dip, food prices still have averaged 2.1% higher in the past year than during the previous 12 months.

Viet Forces Nip Attempted Demonstration By Buddhists

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Combat police nipped in the bud late Wednesday a Buddhist anti-government demonstration that was attempted while the presence of President Kennedy's military survey team centered international attention on Saigon.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor had just heard a series of reports from American officials based in South Viet Nam describing the military situation as "favorable."

A yellow-robed monk, accompanied by two civilians, tried to unfurl a multicolored Buddhist flag on the grassy plaza in front of the national assembly building.

Clubbed Monk

Police rushed across the plaza, clubbed down the monk and wrested from his companions some objects which witnesses said could have been either knives or bottles of liquid.

There was speculation that the monk might have planned a suicide by fire, like five Buddhists since the political-religious crisis flared May 8. All three were arrested.

The police sealed off the area and, in a search of nearby shops and arcades, quickly rounded up five other monks. All five were in peasant garb. They had used gray raincoats to cover their robes and conical hats to shield their shaven heads.

1st Since Aug. 21

The abortive demonstration—the first such manifestation of Buddhist opposition to President Ngo Dinh Diem's government since the arrest of hundreds of monks and nuns in the pagoda raids of Aug. 21—was staged less than 100 yards from the U.S. Information Agency building.

It coincided with a briefing of newsmen at the information agency on the day's American talks, held at the headquarters of the U.S. Military Assistance Command.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told newsmen when the conferences broke up: "It's been a very interesting meeting. If it wasn't so interesting, we wouldn't be here."

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commanding the 14,000 U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam, looked slightly flushed as he emerged.

Our Way

An aide said the Washington visitors heard reports from American military people working alongside Vietnamese troops in the field against Communist guerrillas and "the general concensus of all indicates is that things are moving our way."

Newsmen were told there are "No major differences between civilian and military agencies of the evaluation that things are getting better."

McNamara and Taylor are setting out Thursday on the first of a number of trips into the countryside to study progress of the war against the Communists.

Five Nebraska Teachers To Be Awarded Medals

Five Nebraskans were among 332 American classroom teachers named to receive national recognition from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

They will receive the Valley Forge Classroom Teachers Medal. Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of Freedoms Foundation, said, "These teachers were chosen for their personal dedication and individual contribution to the preservation of freedom."

The five Nebraskans are: Mrs. Clara Allen, North Loup Scotia schools of Scotia, Lawrence Cash of Clarks, Miss Velma Dalton of Guide Rock, Mother Bernice Spores, R.S.C.V., Duchesne Academy, Omaha, and Mrs. Walter Plummer, Brownell Hall School, Omaha.

BLAST AT SUGAR PLANT LEAVES 5 KNOWN DEAD

Moses Lake, Wash. (AP) — Five persons were known dead and three were missing after a series of explosions like a string of huge bombs ripped through the $7 million Utah-Idaho Company's sugar beet factory Wednesday.

Seven persons were hospitalized following the collapse of four of the company's 135-foot high silos, each capable of holding 125,000 sacks of sugar.

"I saw quite a few air raids in England, but there was nothing like this," said David Davidson.

He said after the initial blast, he ran to the front of the building.

"It was like a bomb exploding, followed by a terrific flash."

James Mitchell, office manager at the factory, said men were welding between the silos, and it was believed a spark touched off sugar dust. Damage was estimated in excess of $1 million.

The state patrol tentatively listed the dead as John Henry, Al Lapp, Al Hodson, James Ivan Cain and Leonard Abel, all believed from Moses Lake.

The factory, largest in the U-I system and one of the biggest in the nation, was due to begin processing sugar beets Wednesday and about 75 persons were working in the area.

State Power Board Recesses Rate Hearing Until October 7

The Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday recessed until Oct. 7 its hearing into the rate dispute brought by Consumers Public Power District against the Nebraska Public Power System.

The recess followed three days of testimony and was necessitated by conflicting commitments among those active in the case.

Chairman Clair Callan of Odell said he hopes the hearing can be completed in two or three days following its resumption.

McWha Appears

Last witness before the continuation was R. D. McWha of North Platte, consulting engineer for the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District. Platte Valley is one of the NPPS partners.

McWha offered preliminary testimony describing documents and evidence upon which NPPS will reply to allegations brought by Consumers' witnesses.

The hearing is on an application by Consumers contending the wholesale power rates the NPPS charges it are excessive.

Advisory Authority

Consumers wants the board to recommend a reduction in these rates. The board has only advisory authority in power rates, but its recommendation is expected to carry a good deal of weight with the parties involved.

McWha began testifying after Consumers wound up its case with John W. Kushing, a Michigan consulting engineer, who criticized the method NPPS uses to allocate costs among its customers. He recommended a new system of apportioning costs which would result in a decreased charge to consumers.

NPPS has denied Consumers' allegation it over-estimated costs in determining rates and said it would have to raise its wholesale power rates for other customers if the rate Consumers pays is reduced.

26 Rurals Intervene

Twenty-six rural power districts who buy wholesale power from the NPPS, prompted by the NPPS statement their rates might go up if Consumers' are lowered, have intervened.

Callan told both parties Wednesday that the board will take the contract for wholesale power between Consumers and NPPS into consideration in reaching its decision.

Plan Commission Nixes Zone Change For Legion

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday afternoon recommended a denial of a request of the American Legion for rezoning of property near 56th and P Streets, where the Legion wishes to construct a new state headquarters building and parking lot.

The commission recommended, however, that the Legion submit a request for a special permit to build in the desired area. Representatives of the Legion indicated earlier their willingness to build with such a permit.

Commission approval was given to a First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. request to regularize a 16-foot strip of land located north of 56th and O so as to give it the same zone designation as First Federal property immediately adjacent.

A second request for a zone change was denied to Robert E. Allen, who owns land just north of the Legion's proposed building site. He was also told that he could submit a request for a special permit to build.

A special permit for a community unit plan on property within the Valley View Addition on Pioneers Blvd., was denied to Harold A. Ledford. Ledford was advised that he should build his proposed duplexes along Pioneers Blvd. instead of on either side of 30th Street.

In other action the commission:

—approved the vacating of a portion of the northern half of Pioneers Blvd. relating to the Valley View Addition;

—approved a plat for the Trendwood Addition located on A between 70th and 84th Streets;

—denied a request for a change of zone from B-two family dwelling to D-multiple dwelling on property generally located between the Southeast radial to A, and 24th to 27th Streets;

—denied to Ben Misle a request for a change of zone from A-2 single family to B two family on property located south of Vine between 56th and 57th Streets.

Three Implicated In Recent Thefts

Lincoln Police Wednesday said three recent thefts have been cleared up and as a result an 11-year-old boy has been referred to the County Juvenile authorities, a 19-year-old student nurse was to be sent to the county attorney's office, and a 44-year-old laundry route man is being held for investigation.

Police reported:

—The boy admitted taking several dollars in foreign coins from the collection of Mrs. Delos Eveland, 1930 No. 53rd.

—The girl admitted taking about $50 from St. Elizabeth Hospital's nurse's housing.

—The man admitted taking about $40 from Billie's Tavern, 2011 O. He was arrested when he returned to the tavern Wednesday morning.

Minden, Neb., Woman On Person-To-Person Goodwill Pilgrimage To Minden, Germany

Minden, Germany — Another step in continuing goodwill venture between Minden, Nebraska, and Minden, Germany, was completed recently when Mrs. Paul A. Warp of Minden, Neb., was received as a special guest by the mayor of Minden, Germany, and Mrs. Warp in turn, entertained at a luncheon in the German city's leading hotel honoring the mayor and other city officials.

Highlight of the luncheon was showing a selection of 100 color slides Mrs. Warp had taken in Minden, Neb., before her trip to Germany. The slides, after the showing, were then presented to the Minden, Germany, mayor to be placed in their museum to be available for showing by groups in the German city.

The special slide selection supplements the photo exhibit Mr. Warp prepared in the fall of 1961 as a goodwill gesture through the United States Information Agency. Officials of the USIA were on hand last week when Mrs. Warp made her presentation, and these same men arranged the showing of Mr. Warp's photo exhibit at the Stadt Theatre two years ago.

The USIA indicated that Mrs. Warp was a "very good ambassador of goodwill." Mr. Czuczka of Essen, a member of the staff, remarked that "it would be nice if more people could come over and visit person-to-person as Mrs. Warp has done—she definitely added a great measure to the understanding between the two Mindens."

Imbalances Put Economy Of Italy In Grave Danger

Rome (AP)—The Italian government warned Wednesday night that the nation's economy is in grave danger.

It proposed a series of measures to increase production, cut down on consumption and reverse the country's unfavorable balance of payments.

Premier Giovanni Leone's cabinet issued the warning in a communique carrying suggestions of growing crisis.

The communique declared that the economy was showing "symptoms of imbalance which, if not offset, could compromise the continuity of the development of our economy."

Robert Taylor Will Kick Off Doane Drive

Crete (UPI)—Robert Taylor, film and television star, will return soon to the place where he first began his acting career, the Doane College campus at Crete.

Doane President Dr. Donald M. Typer said Taylor will be a featured guest at an all college banquet Oct. 25. The banquet will begin a campaign to raise $5 million by 1972. An immediate goal is to raise $2 million by 1966.

Two new buildings are planned in the programming, a music theater building and a new men's dormitory. Several other existing buildings are to be renovated and enlarged.

The goal also includes substantial funds for scholarships, a foreign affairs lectureship, faculty development and normal operating expenses for the period 1963-66.

Taylor's wife, Ursula Theiss, will accompany him on the trip. Taylor was a member of the class of 1933.

Proposed Grain Changes Urged By Wheat Group

The Nebraska Wheat Commission reported it has adopted a resolution supporting proposed changes in present grain standards.

"U.S. grain standards should describe the condition of the wheat in order to be an effective merchandising tool necessary to expanded sales in dollar markets," the resolution said.

The resolution noted that Nebraska's 70,000 wheat growers are now "in competition with other wheat producing nations of the world for a share of the world wheat markets, including those developed by U.S. wheat producers."

William Lindeken of Chadron heads the wheat commission as chairman. Members include Herbert J. Hughes of Imperial, Carson R. Smith of Ogallala, Carl Bruns of Chappell, Howard Oberg of Lincoln, Edgar Ashton of Nebraska City, and Richard L. Lewis of Arapahee.

Mutual Is Facing $100,000 Suit

Des Moines (AP)—An insurance man filed a $100,000 libel suit Wednesday against Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. and two of its Des Moines officials.

John V. Karms of West Des Moines accused Kenneth L. Knight, Mutual's district manager, and Chester C. Elson, its general agent here, with making "false and defamatory" statements about Karms and his business practices.

The petition, filed in Polk County District Court, said the statements were made "maliciously and with intent to injure" Karns, in a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Lennie J. Carlgren of near Ottumwa on Sept. 25, 1962.

The petition said Karns was a former employe of Elson and now is a competitor. It said the purpose of the letter was to discredit Karns as an insurance salesman.

Stock Market Profit Taking Is Massive

New York (AP) — The stock market surged further into record high ground Wednesday then ebbed swiftly under massive profit taking. The list took a loss on one of the year's busiest sessions.

Turnover swelled to 6.34 million shares from 5.53 million Tuesday. The biggest volume of 1963 was Sept. 6 when 7.2 million shares changed hands.

Brokers attributed the sharp reversal to precautionary profit taking after the Dow Jones industrial average rose above the target area of 705 in mid-morning. From that point the trend was lower.

Some of the "glamour" stocks took sharp losses. The net loss on average, however, was not bad. The Dow Jones industrial average declined 2.27 to 743.69. From the peak of 750.85 to the close was a substantial drop of 7.16.

Analysts cited a number of factors related to the performance:

Caution over the as yet unknown action of Congress regarding President Kennedy's $11-billion tax cut measure.

Revived rumors that margins may be increased for stock purchases—that is, the legal down payment, now at 50%.

Concern because a few blue chips have been pushing averages to record highs, while more stocks have been declining than advancing—a top-heavy market.

Worry that the market has risen "too far, too fast," and was due for a severe correction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.0 to 280.5 with industrials down 1.7, rails down .3 and utilities down .6.

An estimated $1.4 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange, based on the decline in the AP average.

Of 1,318 issues traded, 789 declined and 298 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 47 and new lows 29.

Chrysler—which backtracked from a rise of more than 2—was the most active stock, losing ⅞ at 85¼ on 275,800 shares. Trading was halted temporarily in Chrysler as the selling seemed to reach a climax and buyers flocked to buy it at the lower price.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 1.68 million shares compared with 1.6 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in lighter trading. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Butchers, Steers Are 50c Lower

Omaha (AP) — Butcher hogs ruled 25 to 50c lower on the Omaha market Wednesday.

Steers were mostly 25c, instances 50c lower.

Heifers were 25 to 50c lower. Slaughter lambs sold mostly steady.

De Gaulle 'Meets People,' Reiterates A-Test Intention

Avignon, France (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, in a "meet-the-people" swing through the Rhone River valley, said Wednesday France is determined to continue nuclear tests despite the treaty banning such experiments everywhere except underground.

De Gaulle has refused to sign the pact, preferring to press on and develop a nuclear capability for France.

In a series of five speeches before large crowds in flag-draped villages, De Gaulle said he will not knuckle under to what he called the nuclear "hegemony" of the United States and the Soviet Union.

He also dropped a strong hint that he will run for a second term "since I have the strength to do so."

De Gaulle spent the night in this ancient walled city after speaking here, and at Orange, Carpentras, Apt. and Cavaillon.

In The Midst

He said France is "in the middle of nuclear tests" necessary for building its independent nuclear force and is determined to go ahead with them, regardless of the Moscow agreement reached by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain to stop testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water.

De Gaulle said France is determined not to let the United States and the Soviet Union maintain a nuclear domination over the rest of the world.

"If two privileged states possessed the monopoly of power forever, that would mean handing the world over to a double hegemony, and a country like ours could not agree to that," he said.

He explained why France has refused to sign the partial test ban treaty.

Two Camps

"The two camps — the two rivals about whom I speak — have carried out hundreds of tests . . . Thanks to these tests they have built up armaments capable of destroying the universe. Now they would like all the other nations to pledge theyselves never to carry out any more tests."

He said it was easy for the United States and the Soviet Union to get other nations to sign the agreement because they were incapable of carrying out nuclear tests anyhow.

As for France, he said, it is in the middle of tests "which are necessary for her in order for her, too, to be able to have a force capable of defending her."

In the strongest hint he has given so far on future political plans, De Gaulle said he has understood the wishes of the French people for a quarter of a century.

"I am determined to do so since I have the strength," he said.

De Gaulle's seven-year term expires at the end of 1965.

Colombian Chiefs Talk Of Coping With Terror

Bogota, Colombia (UPI) — President Guillermo Leon Valencia called his top military men into emergency conference Wednesday to draft ways to cope with an unprecedented surge of pro-Castro terrorism throughout Colombia.

The conference was called after terrorist members of the underground Armed Forces for National Liberation, Castro-type organization, set off 41 bombs in five Colombian cities Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

There were no casualties, according to early reports, but damage, particularly to public buildings, was heavy.

The war and interior (police) ministers sat in on the meeting with the president and the army, navy and air force heads.

Vast Plan

Valencia was reported to have told them that events of the past few hours had convinced him "we are faced with a vast terrorist plan . . . a true emergency . . . the start of an era of struggle between (constitutional) government and extremists . . ."

Especially galling to the government was the fact that anonymous spokesmen for the terrorist group telephoned newspapers and news agencies to "tip" them off to the bomb explosions to come.

Thirteen bombs were exploded in Bogota alone. One, which caused heavy damage, went off in front of the San Carlos Palace, residence of the president. Others which exploded at the home of ex-President Dario Echemendia, the residence of the U.S. military attache, Col. Robert Studer, the consulate of El Salvador, the palace of ministers and the brigade of military institutes.

In Cali, big Colombian city in the interior, 17 bomb explosions spread terror through the city. The warehouses of the American-owned Coca Cola and Sears-Roebuck companies, and the plant of the newspaper El Pais and the San Fernando and Colombia Social Club buildings were damaged.

Other bombs went off in Manizales, Ibague and Popayan, capital cities of the provinces of Caldas, Tolima and Cauca.

8,000 CHINESE FARMERS ROSE AGAINST REDS

Taipei, Formosa (AP) — The official Chinese Nationalist central news agency reported Wednesday about 8,000 farmers revolted against the Chinese Communists in the South China province of Kwangtung in early August.

The agency attributed this information to a recent arrival in Hong Kong from Kwangtung, identifying him only as Mr. Ma. It said he gave this account:

The farmers belonged to the Chihliao (Red House) Commune in Chaoyang County, East Kwangtung. The revolt was touched off by compulsory procurement of grain from the farmers who were suffering from a shortage because of a serious drought.

Eight Communist officials and more than 60 farmers were killed. About 700 others were arrested.

Also chosen in the meeting at First Presbyterian Church were Mrs. Glen Avery of Scottsbluff, nominating committee; Mrs. C. W. Winslow of Omaha, leadership training committee; and Mrs. August Lutkemeier of Hastings, nominating committee. (Star Photo).

Joplin Youths Bowl, Keep Out Of Trouble

Joplin, Mo. (UPI) — When a youngster spins a black ball down a bowling lane here, civic leaders cheer it as a strike against juvenile delinquency.

The teen-age rage in Joplin and the neighboring towns of Webb City, Mo., and Galena, Kan., is to be a member of the Tri-City Junior Bowling Association. About 40% of the eligible youth belong. ....

"Since the association was started two years ago," Woodson Oldham, juvenile judge, said, "juvenile delinquency has dropped noticeably. "Not one junior bowler has ever in juvenile court or arrested in by authorities for questioning."

Praise

Roi S. Wood, superintendent of Joplin schools, praised the program as a year-around boon to extracurricular activities for youth. He said it kept the children active and out of mischief. Also, students who play hookey are barred from bowling.

Harry Hoffman, a radio newsman, and Bill Marshall, president of local bowling lanes, spearheaded the movement. Marshall said the junior bowling at his lanes was the largest program at any single establishment in the nation.

The association has 2,500 members and a school census shows that there are only 6,200 persons in the area who are eligible by age—8 to 18—to join.

Bonanza

Hoffman said the organization was a bonanza he had not expected. Parents now take their children to neighboring areas for tournaments, besides visiting the lanes to watch the youngsters roll.

Strict rules are enforced. No smoking is permitted. Use of vulgar language, liquor and bad sportsmanship are taboo. Hoffman and Marshall also instituted a "New Year's Eve Baby Sitting Party." Children bowled while their parents celebrated.

We're the largest baby sitters in the world," Marshall said.

Hruska To Speak At Martin Dinner

Thedford (UPI)—Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., will be the principal speaker at the testimonial dinner for Congressman Dave Martin in North Platte on Saturday, dinner Chairman Chet Paxton said here.

The $10-a-plate dinner will be held in the North Platte Junior High School auditorium. Proceeds will be distributed among the 59 counties in the district, one of the nation's largest.

Volcano To Be Site Of Biblical Movie

Catania, Sicily (UPI)—On the slopes of Europe's most active volcano, which has destroyed more than one town in its erruptions, movie men are building the ruins of a city.

Mount Etna, called the "Pillar of Heaven," has killed an estimated 1 million persons in recorded history. Since 475 B.C., it has had about 500 eruptions.

Only last April, the volcano threatened the little town of Linguaglossa high up on the 10,758-foot volcano's northeastern slope.

This killer volcano will be the site for a reproduction of the Biblical city of Sodom in Italian movie producer Dino de Laurentiis' production of "The Bible"—an in-sequence shooting of the book of Genesis from the creation to Joseph.

The unique thing about the new movie is that Sodom will be built already destroyed to get away from the usual movie cliche of thousands dying while Sodom is razed by fire and brimstone.

The destroyed Sodom will be the background for part of the Abraham and Isaac episode. Abraham will be seen leading his son, Isaac, to the sacrifice through the burnt-out city. On the way, he will explain to him what happens when people live evilly and deny their God.

The idea is that this will speak more eloquently of the disaster and its horror than a frantic scene of thousands on the screen fleeing from a mockup city on fire.

The ruined city that will backdrop Abraham's narration already is on the way to completion. About 200 workmen have been employed in building the construction of destruction.

De Laurentiis chose the slopes of Etna because he wanted a site that had the appearance of having been struck by brimstone, charred by fire.

The lava-laced sides of Etna are as grim a landscape of the workings of fire as can be found.

The choice of the site did not make it any easier for art director Mario Chiari to design and build a ruined city.

Designing a standing city would have been easier, according to Chiari. The art director had great trouble in matching the lava rock in the materials that he chose for the wreckage of his city.

While director Orson Welles is filming the Abraham and Isaac sequence, construction crews will move to Egypt to start building the Tower of Babel and the city and palaces of the Pharoahs. The latter is for the Joseph and his brethren sequence, which is to go before the cameras in October, with Luchino Visconti directing.

INDUSTRIALIST HAD NOT SEEN NEW PRODUCT

Charleston, W.Va. (AP) — George Love, chairman of Consolidation Coal Co. and a director of Union Carbide Corp., arrived in Charleston Tuesday to preside at the opening of an industrial exposition.

His transportation to the exposition center was in a shiny new car.

"What kind of car is this?" he asked an accompanying auto dealer.

"Why, it's our new 1964 Chrysler," the dealer exclaimed.

"Is that so . . . I haven't seen one of them yet," Love exclaimed.

Love also is board chairman of the Chrysler Corp.

Spellman Arrives To Attend Council

Rome (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, flew into Rome Wednesday to attend the second session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council. With him was Archbishop John Kroll of Philadelphia.

They were met at Fiumicino Airport by Count Enrico Galeazzi, administrator of Vatican City. The Ecumenical Council reopens Sunday. Cardinal Spellman is a member of its presiding commission.

Machine Moved From Lincoln To Illinois; 2 Held

Freeport, Ill., (AP) — Two Phoenix, Ariz., men were arraigned Wednesday on charges of transporting from Lincoln, Neb., to Rockford, Ill., a machine used to alter checks.

William Grayson Fischer, 36, and Loren Allen Mays, 22, were sent to the Winnebago County Jail in Rockford when they were unable to furnish bond of $10,000 each set by U.S. Commissioner James K. Cavanaugh.

FBI agents said Mays and Fisher "flooded the Midwest with bad checks."

Fisher and Mays were arrested Monday night when Rockford police were called to a motel to stop a fight between them. When police found the machine in the motel, they notified the FBI.

Lincoln police said they had no record of either man and no reports of check-writing machines being stolen in Lincoln.

Space-Mobile Due

Chadron (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space - mobile will be here for six showings Oct. 17-19. Two of the showings will be open to the public and officials estimated turnouts of between 1,000 and 1,500 persons for each.

1. NEW LISTING — Spotless 2 bedroom ranch close to Highway 2 & 17th St. Full basement, attached garage. $13,500.

2. FIVE BEDROOM, 3 BATH HOME REDUCED! Beautiful English Manor type home near the Country Club can now be bought under $75,000. You must see to appreciate the lovely decor, large living room, completely modern kitchen, gracious entrance hall and many other extra features. There is a play area for the children (young and old) which can be flooded for ice skating, a large planted area and a beautiful brick patio with barb-que, planters, etc.—Don't fail to see this one!

3. FHA APPRAISED AT $19,500 and well worth the money! Across from Northeast High this 3 bedroom brick ranch offers near perfection in decoration, upkeep and livability—beautifully carpeted throughout every room except the big bright kitchen—the kitchen has an eating area with big windows opening in 2 directions—it's a dream.

4. HERE'S YOUR CHANCE — You who have wanted a good, big, sound older home to redecorate, priced at a reasonable figure and located in the right area — 5 bedrooms, 2 baths, family room just off the kitchen—fireplace in the 32 foot living room. Sheridan Boulevard. $33,750.

5. ARE YOU BUDGET WISE? You will agree this exceptionally well cared for home offers much more than most—1½ bath and bedroom on 1st, full bath—3 bedroom on 2nd centrally air-conditioned—breakfast nook—Close to 17th & South. $15,650.

6. HOW COULD YOU not agree it's as clean and neat a 3 bedroom brick ranch as you have seen? Centrally air-conditioned — near the new industrial center south—close to school & easy to finance. $19,500.

7. SPACE! CONDITION! PRICE! LOCATION! 5 bedrooms, 3 baths, 2½ stores—move right in without redecorating—$24,500. Blessed Sacrament, Irving Junior High — ½ block to bus.

8. TALK ABOUT LOCATION! High on a hill, one block to grade school, 3 blocks to Gateway Shopping Center, 2 blocks to the bus, 2 blocks to church and a swimming pool in your own back yard —3 bedroom ranch with finished basement, 2 baths, big kitchen. $25,750.

9. RETIRING? Want a quiet street, a small garden, no stairs to climb, a shopping center around the corner, a park in which to run your little dog, but still have enough space—all for a reasonable price —see this one $22,500.

10. NO GARAGE but Mom, what a lot of house for $13,200! That's the FHA appraisal. $400 plus closing will give you this 4 bedroom, 1½ bath home close to Prescott —Yes, a fireplace—FHA says it's good so it must be?

11. FHA says $22,750—will loan $21,000 for 30 years—It's that good a 4 bedroom in Eastridge—a new family room has been added—it has that something extra — Call us now for an appointment to see this one.

"The Difference With 4264 "A" Is:

A well planned home especially built by Mr. Art Pierson to the present owner's specifications just eleven years ago; to provide them with the security and happiness which can now be YOURS. Appreciate the satisfaction of the low maintenance of the all brick exterior; the added livability of a desert dry full divided basement; easy accessibility to all rooms; plaster walls; "rusco" windows.

No matter what the weather—greet your friends with the confidence provided by the gracious entry with guest closet . . . the protection afforded by the attached garage . . . the satisfying comfort of the even year around finger-tip temperature control, and if you so desire, enjoy the romantic flare of the wood-burning fireplace. There's less work in the step-saving kitchen which features a real charmer of a built-in stainless steel oven. Enjoy entertaining in the dining room serviced by a built-in china closet. Carpeting and drapes throughout. The third bedroom or library has a door and window overlooking the back garden. The Master bedroom has its own bath.

Located high and sightly among fine homes and good neighbors, 2 blocks to bus, 7 blocks to Randolph and Lefler Schools and Piedmont Shopping Center.
